Islamic Republic of Afghanistan
Ministry of Rural Development & Reconstruction

Change Management Unit (CMU)

Country: Afghanistan
Ministry: Ministry of Rural Development & Reconstruction (MRDR)
Type: International Individual Consultant
Project ID: P 117153 (MPR/Change Management)
Grant ID: A409649-AT
Issue Date: 6th January 2015
Closing Date: 9th January 2015

I. General Introduction:

MRDR’s ultimate goal is to reduce poverty in the rural areas of Afghanistan, where three-quarters of the Afghan population live. Many of these people are affected by various social and economic issues. In this regard, the Ministry of Rural Development & Reconstruction strives to use its resources efficiently and effectively to help the people in the rural areas.

The development context in which MRDR’s work is set is the Afghan National Development Strategy (ANDS), the expanded in Agriculture and Rural Development Sector Strategy (ARDS), and expressed in programs through four National Priority Programs (NPPs) in which the Ministry is directly involved through the Agriculture and Rural Development (ARD) Cluster of Government ministries (where MRDR’s Ministry is Coordinator).

II. Change Management within the MRDR

To respond to the need to provide sustainable services, MRDR recognizes the need to move away from the programmatic operational mode to a more strategic one that maximizes its core functions within its directorates and field offices. This will bring in both efficiency and effectiveness, and help reduce the reliance on contract staff and transfer MRDR to a mid-term budget and managed by its civil servants. The latter can only be achieved by building the skills development of the existing and possibly new civil servants through a Change Management process and bringing contract staff onto the "safety net" (Afghan civil servants) through the defined Capacity Building the Results (CBR) project initiated by the World Bank.

Complete for Change management within the MRDR is available at NSP, MRDR, and ARDS websites.

III. Roles & Responsibilities for the Consultant:

- Support the Change Management Unit in the procurement of three international management and technical consulting firms, including assistance with selection procedures, such as reviewing the expressions of interest, technical and financial proposals, and peer reviews.
- Once contracted, help the Change Management Unit to manage these contracts, including the reviewing the reports and methodologies being taken by these firms as the organizational development in the ARDS Cluster and the feedback on consultants’ impact at various stages, and clarifying the final reports.

Complete for responsibilities is available at NSP, MRDR, and ARDS websites.

IV. Time Schedule

The assignment is expected to start in April 2015 for a period of 24 continuous months with possibility of extension by annual agreement, subject to proven performance.

V. Qualification Requirements

- Academic Qualifications:
  - Master’s degree in Social Sciences, Development Studies, Programme Management: Business Administration, Public Administration, International Development, Organizational Development, Change Management or related discipline is required.

- Work Experience:
  - A minimum of eight years of direct working experience in senior managerial or administrative positions.

- Complete for work experience are available at NSP, ARDS websites.

- Other Requirements:
  - A good understanding and proven appreciation of all technical aspects of planning and program management and other related tools and mechanisms.
  - Working knowledge of development issues.

- Complete for other requirements are available at NSP, MRDR, and ARDS websites.

- Expressions of interest (EoI) must be delivered by the deadline before the deadline fixed by the government.

- The deadline for the submission of the documents is 9th January 2015.

- Address the Application to the Chief, ARDS Unit, Ministry of Rural Development & Reconstruction, Afghanistan.

Unemployment – A Major Challenge

Hundres of men, some on crutches, were waiting outside a food distribution center in Kandahar yesterday. The distribution was meant for people who had been displaced by cyclic flooding and drought over the past few years. Those who received food were happy, but many were hungry and others were in need of medical care. The United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) has called for an immediate and sustained effort to provide relief to those affected by the disaster.

This is a major challenge for Afghanistan in the wake of recent floods and drought. The country has been hit by severe weather conditions, including heavy rain and floods, which have caused significant damage to infrastructure and agriculture. The government and international aid organizations are working to provide assistance to those affected by the disaster.

People are more important than Leaders

A cursory look at the history of political philosophy shows that most of the works are dedicated to the study of leadership and its characteristics. However, there is a fundamental flaw in this approach. The focus has been on how the leaders should be. There are pluses of books and arguments on this topic. The question, however, remains: what is the role of the leaders in society? It is the leaders who are important, as the leaders that ‘Politicians’ are not interested in. The current system is flawed, and it can lead to their failure. Theirs is an equation that cannot be solved by leadership alone. The question is: why is the system not working? The leadership is not the only thing that is important, but it is crucial. A leader should be a person of integrity, honesty, and a leader should lead by example.

There are several problems that need to be solved in order to develop the country. First, there is the issue of corruption. The government should be transparent and accountable. Second, there is the issue of education. The government should prioritize education and provide access to quality education to all. Third, there is the issue of justice. The government should provide equal justice to all, regardless of their social status or political affiliations.

The mass media and political parties should play a crucial role in shaping public opinion and driving the agenda. They should be held accountable for their actions and should be transparent in their dealings. The government should also work closely with the international community to address these challenges and mitigate the effects of the disasters.

The recent floods and drought have highlighted the need for a comprehensive and sustainable approach to disaster management. The government should prioritize early warning systems, preparedness, and emergency response. The international community should also provide support in terms of finance, technology, and expertise.

The situation in Afghanistan is complex and multifaceted. It requires a sustained effort from all stakeholders to develop the country and create a bright future for its people.

Syrian Iraqi Kurfies Forces Retake Industrial Zone in Kobani

TEHRAN — In a series of attacks on the IS, the Syrian-Iraqi forces crossed a border town of Kobani, a town beleaguered by the IS forces, and retook the city's airport and industrial zone, according to local reports. The Islamic State militants reportedly launched attacks on the city to try to strengthen their presence in the region after the confrontations with the Iraqi military.

According to the VPC, at least 12 people were killed, including four IS fighters. According to reports, at least 30 to 40 IS fighters were killed in the clashes. The plains in Kobani are very open, providing better conditions for the IS fighters' movement. However, the Syrian-Iraqi forces have launched an attack from various directions. Many local reports have noted that the IS fighters were forced to retreat, and the Syrian-Iraqi forces are now in control of the area.

The IS forces are in control of the area around the airport and industrial zone, according to local reports. The IS fighters have been observed in the area surrounding the airport and industrial zone, which is considered to be the center of the IS's control. The Syrian-Iraqi forces have been actively engaged in the area, and there have been reports of intense fighting. The IS forces are said to have retreated to the area surrounding the airport, leaving the industrial zone under the control of the Syrian-Iraqi forces.

The IS forces were forced to retreat from the airport and industrial zone due to the intense pressure from the Syrian-Iraqi forces. The IS fighters were reportedly forced to withdraw to the areas surrounding the airport, where they can better defend themselves from the Syrian-Iraqi forces.
