Steps Needed to End Mafia Chokehold on Economy: Rahimi

KARUL - The industry and commerce minister-designate on Sunday suggested the country's economy would continue to suffer badly in the absence of an effective strategy to end the marijuana mafia's foreign Mafia. Finance Minister Muhammad Rahimi, presenting his report on the economy before the Wilayat Jirga, identified large industries and state-controlled enterprises as the main drivers of economic growth. But such industries were affected by the government's negligence, he added, alleging the Afghan economy was being undermined by some Mafia groups behind the capital flight.

Rahimi urged Afghan traders and investors to focus on generating jobs for the people, something that would eventually translate into economic development.

Chairman of the Supreme Court of Afghanistan.

Ghani to Respect Parliament, Replace Dual Citizen Nominees

KARUL - A presidential spokesman on Saturday said President Ashraf Ghani has promised lawmakers in Parliament that he will respect their resolution regarding candidates with dual citizenship and will replace those nominees who do not have their second citizenship revoked.

"The president's decision regarding the resolution of the House is that those nominees with dual citizenship and those who have not revoked their dual nationality will be replaced with new nominees," presidential spokesman Niaz Mohammad Sanaei said. "The president has shown from the start of the national unity government that he respects the decisions of the MPs.

Of the seven total nominees who supported Afghanistan's territorial integrity and international and national interests, the only two were selected by President Ashraf Ghani, addressing different issues.

Road to Economic Self-Sufficiency Long, Bumpy: Ogli

KARUL - Former President Hamid Karzai had to head the economy of the country on Sunday pledged to fight corruption and work for the country's economic prosperity. Changing the program to campaign mark, he praised Georgia's socio-political and economic successes in the last decade, saying the country had to travel a long and bumpy road toward freedom. He believed Afghanistan still had many economic challenges and the country's economy was very dependent on foreign aid, lack of investment in the manufacturing industry, and focus on short-term investments and low internal income as major challenges. "If I couldn't make you proud, I will make sure you won't," Mr. Karzai said.

Alliances against Haidari Baseless: Mol

KARGUL - The main reason and fraud allegations against the ruling Afghan Independent Electoral Commission (IEC) chairman were baseless, said the former Independent Election Commission (IEC) chief, Haidari. A statement said that the allegations against Haidari are unfounded.

APS Business

Association Set up to Improve Provincial Governance

KARUL - The creation of an independent tribunal - known as Afghanistan Governance Association - was announced on Sunday to improve and develop the governance in the country. For the sake of the better governance in the country, the Afghan Independent Election Commission announced the creation of the Afghanistan Governance Association on Sunday. A statement said that the association was founded with the approval of the government. The association has been established as per the country's law. The statement said adding it would strive to promote good governance and reform in the government in the country.

The members hoped that the association would help institutionalize good governance, economic development, and social development.

Balkhi to Help Refugees Exercise Voting Right

KARUL - The minister-designate for refugees and repatriation on Sunday pledged to intensify the country's efforts to help them return home in a peaceful way. "Improving Afghan refugees' life, providing them with legal assistance and making the government more efficient are among our priorities," he said.

He said he would focus on the community staff capacity, curbing corruption, and implementing public awareness campaigns to "insure everyone knows what they need to do and where they can get help in the election and continue their education."
Military Honours for Afghan Service

The singing of the Afghan national anthem 'Ey Bani Momin' echoed from the capital of Kabul, Afghanistan, on Monday as the Indian government presented its first ever military honours to three Afghan soldiers who had laid down their lives fighting against the terrorist group in the Afghan border town of Mahshid. The three soldiers were: Arif Wazir, a 28-year-old Border Lifeguards officer; Sharif Ali, a 25-year-old Border Lifeguards officer; and Sharif Ali, a 25-year-old border security force officer.

The award ceremony was held at the Indian Embassy in Kabul, where the Indian High Commissioner, Ms. Jaya Prakash Sinha, presided over the event.

Ms. Sinha said, "The soldiers' bravery and courage are an inspiration to all of us. They demonstrated exceptional courage and selflessness in the face of adversity. Their sacrifice will be remembered by all of us.

The Indian government has always been supportive of the Afghan struggle against terrorism and has been working closely with the Afghan government to combat the threat. These soldiers' sacrifice is a testament to the commitment of our two nations to work together to defeat terrorism and ensure peace and stability in the region."

The soldiers were presented with the following awards:

- Arif Wazir was awarded the Hindi Sainik Award for his exceptional service and bravery.
- Sharif Ali was awarded the Hindi Sainik Award for his bravery and courage in the face of adversity.
- Sharif Ali was awarded the Hindi Sainik Award for his bravery and courage in the face of adversity.

The soldiers were also presented with a commemorative medal for their sacrifice.

The ceremony was attended by officials from the Afghan government, including the Afghan High Commissioner to India, Mr. Shaukatullah Walli, and the Afghan High Commissioner to India, Mr. Shaukatullah Walli.

The Indian government has always been supportive of the Afghan struggle against terrorism and has been working closely with the Afghan government to combat the threat. These soldiers' sacrifice is a testament to the commitment of our two nations to work together to defeat terrorism and ensure peace and stability in the region.
60 Years of Sino-Afghan Relations

January 26, 2015

The Horizon And Future Strategies

By Mullaheddin Rashid Shah

Introduction: 60 years ago, China and Afghanistan established diplomatic relations. Afghanistan’s Omaha government on January 20, 1955, which was then followed by Pakistan in 1957, the United States in 1960, the United Kingdom in 1961, and the Soviet Union in 1964. This huge amount of money included all the expenditures for military, economic, and social development purposes and totalling $2 billion. Of this amount, $1.4 billion was spent on the outbreak of the Soviet-American war in Afghanistan. Without going into details of the money spent and the international situation at that time, we can say that the money was spent on the welfare of the leaders of the USSR and major countries of the world at that time. The total amount of money that was spent on the leaders of the USSR and major countries of the world at that time was about $2 billion. This was the main reason for the failure of the war and the Soviet Union's withdrawal from Afghanistan.

The Horizons and Future Strategies

By Mullaheddin Rashid Shah

According to the independent media sources and government statements, the number of immigrants is much more than the number of Afghans living in the world. The number of Afghans living in the world is more than the number of Afghans living in Afghanistan. The Afghans living in the world are more than the number of Afghans living in Afghanistan.

The Chinese government has been supporting Afghan education, health, and development projects over the past several decades. The Chinese government has been providing assistance to Afghanistan in various fields, including education, health, and development. The Chinese government has been providing scholarships to Afghan students to study in Chinese universities. The Chinese government has been providing medical aid and assistance to Afghan hospitals and health centers. The Chinese government has been providing technical assistance and expertise to Afghan government officials and organizations. The Chinese government has been providing financial assistance to Afghan government officials and organizations. The Chinese government has been providing financial assistance to Afghan government officials and organizations.

The Chinese government has been providing financial assistance to Afghan government officials and organizations. The Chinese government has been providing financial assistance to Afghan government officials and organizations. The Chinese government has been providing financial assistance to Afghan government officials and organizations. The Chinese government has been providing financial assistance to Afghan government officials and organizations. The Chinese government has been providing financial assistance to Afghan government officials and organizations.
(1) China's stance against the appointment of a new U.S. ambassador to Taiwan:
"People say not to write for those who interfere in our internal affairs. I'm not who they think I am, my name is not Richard, my name is Anders. I have a family in Taiwan, a daughter in Taiwan, a friend in Taiwan, and I believe in the principles of human rights and freedom."

(2) The rise of the Alibaba Group:
"This group has been built on the principles of innovation and hard work, and we will continue to strive for the benefit of society and the world."

(3) The implications of the global trade war on the pharmaceutical industry:
"The pharmaceutical industry is a vital part of the global economy, and the trade war could potentially disrupt supply chains and increase drug prices."

(4) The role of technology in enhancing environmental sustainability:
"Technology plays a crucial role in promoting environmental sustainability by enabling us to reduce our carbon footprint and conserve natural resources."

(5) The importance of education in fostering social equality:
"Education is the key to unlocking the potential of all individuals and promoting social equality."

(6) The impact of social media on mental health:
"Social media can have both positive and negative effects on mental health, and it is important to use these platforms responsibly."

(7) The role of sport in promoting cultural exchange:
"Sport is a powerful tool for promoting cultural exchange and understanding between nations."

(8) The significance of renewable energy in combating climate change:
"Renewable energy is essential for combating climate change and ensuring a sustainable future for generations to come."

(9) The importance of mental health awareness and support:
"Mental health awareness and support are crucial for creating a society that values and respects mental health."

(10) The challenges of poverty and inequality in developing countries:
"Poverty and inequality are major challenges in developing countries, and it is important to address these issues through sustained efforts."

(11) The role of technology in enhancing education:
"Technology can play a significant role in enhancing education by providing new tools and methods for learning."

(12) The impact of automation on employment:
"Automation is bringing about significant changes in the job market, and it is necessary to adapt to these changes."

(13) The significance of cultural exchange in promoting understanding and cooperation:
"Cultural exchange is essential for promoting understanding and cooperation between different cultures."

(14) The importance of scientific research in addressing global challenges:
"Scientific research is vital for addressing global challenges such as climate change and pandemics."

(15) The role of education in shaping society:
"Education is a powerful tool for shaping society by fostering critical thinking, creativity, and ethical values."
EU's Tusk Slams 'Appeasement of Russia As Bloc Talks New Sanctions

By Alex Brummer

In a chilly blast at the bloc's approach to Russia, former EU commissioner and now outspoken critic of Russia, Tusk, has taken a hard line in an interview with The Spectator, suggesting that the EU's approach has been too soft.

"Once again, appeasers need to grow up to greater acts of courage. To step up our policy based on cold feet, not fealty," Tusk warned after a crucial EU summit was called off in reaction to the recent events in Ukraine. The bloc's failure to act more decisively has led Tusk to conclude that "The EU's appeasement of Russia is at its worst, giving Moscow carte blanche to do as it pleases within the international order, and one can point to a number of instances where we have failed to take a strong stance against Russian aggression."

In his analysis, Tusk criticizes the EU for not imposing stronger sanctions against Russia, instead choosing to engage in diplomatic talks. He argues that Russia's actions in Ukraine are a clear example of its disregard for international law and the need for the EU to take a more assertive approach.

Tusk further argues that the EU's appeasement of Russia is a result of its inability to act firmly in the face of aggression. He suggests that the bloc should be more willing to use its leverage in trade and energy to exert pressure on Russia, rather than relying on sanctions alone.

While Tusk's comments have been met with some support from other EU member states, they have also been criticized by those who argue that sanctions are not effective in changing Russian behavior. The EU has so far imposed economic sanctions against Russia, but these have had limited impact.

Despite the challenges, Tusk remains optimistic about the bloc's ability to change course and take a firmer stance against Russia's aggression. He believes that the EU must be willing to do more to protect its interests and the international order, even if it means taking on Russia in a direct manner.

"The EU has a responsibility to stand up to Russia's aggression, and we cannot continue to appease it if we want to preserve our values and interests," Tusk concludes. "We must be willing to stand up to Russia and make it clear that we will not tolerate its violations of international law."

---

About the Author:

Alex Brummer is a British financial writer and commentator who has been a regular contributor to various financial publications. He has written extensively on economic and political issues, particularly in relation to European Union policy and its relationship with Russia.

---

EU's Tusk Slams 'Appeasement of Russia As Bloc Talks New Sanctions

EU Commissioner for Transport, Mobility and Environment, Tusk, has been speaking out against the bloc's approach to Russia, calling for firmer action in response to Moscow's aggression.

In a recent interview with The Spectator, Tusk said that the bloc's current approach to Russia is a "total failure" and that the EU needs to take a "more combative" approach to ensure its values are not undermined.

"The EU's appeasement of Russia is a clear example of its failure to act firmly in the face of aggression," Tusk said. "We must be willing to stand up to Russia and make it clear that we will not tolerate its violations of international law."

In his analysis, Tusk criticizes the EU for not imposing stronger sanctions against Russia, instead choosing to engage in diplomatic talks. He argues that Russia's actions in Ukraine are a clear example of its disregard for international law and the need for the EU to take a more assertive approach.

Tusk further argues that the EU's appeasement of Russia is a result of its inability to act firmly in the face of aggression. He suggests that the bloc should be more willing to use its leverage in trade and energy to exert pressure on Russia, rather than relying on sanctions alone.

Despite the challenges, Tusk remains optimistic about the bloc's ability to change course and take a firmer stance against Russia's aggression. He believes that the EU must be willing to do more to protect its interests and the international order, even if it means taking on Russia in a direct manner.

"The EU has a responsibility to stand up to Russia's aggression, and we cannot continue to appease it if we want to preserve our values and interests," Tusk concludes. "We must be willing to stand up to Russia and make it clear that we will not tolerate its violations of international law."

---

About the Author:

Alex Brummer is a British financial writer and commentator who has been a regular contributor to various financial publications. He has written extensively on economic and political issues, particularly in relation to European Union policy and its relationship with Russia.
Drug Commerce Threat to Helmand: Security: Police

Ex-Governor Accused of Spurning Presidential Order

KABUL - Thousands gathered on Sunday in Farah and Zabul provinces to condemn the publication of caricatures of Prophet Mohammad (PBUH) by a French Magazine Charlie Hebdo. Demonstrators chanted slogans against Charlie Hebdo and France and demanded punishment for those responsible for disrespect to Islam by publishing the cartoons of Prophet Mohammad (PBUH). Khawra, press reported. Before Farah and Zabul residents of Kabul, Nain... (More on P6, 18)

KANDAHAR - As many as 12,720 high school graduates, including 1,294 females, have started appearing in university entry test in the coming three days in Jalalabad, the capital of eastern Nangarhar province, an official said on Sunday. Chancellor Dr. Mohammed Zahir Hamed said that 2,460 Afghan National Army (ANA) police, Public Order Police (POP) and Afghan National Police (ANP) personnel, police officer Col. Mohammed Talib said. He added some notorious rebels commanders were among the dead terrorists. At least 63 bodies were pilled of rebels... (More on P6, 12)

JALALABAD - As many as 12,400 new students. A commission has been formed to ensure the process is conducted without any case for complainants. Meanwhile, candidates expressed deep concern over transparency of the process. Amna, who appeared in last exams, said: “Those who have money and power could pass the test and get admissions. In facilities of their... (More on P6, 18)

Closing Gap with Public, Police FM Radio Goes on

KANDAHAR - An effort to bridge the gap between police and the public, the long-awaited police FM radio has started broad-casting programmes. Ministry of Interior officials said on Sunday.

Gen. Mohammad Ayub Salihi, the acting interior minister, after inaugrating the radio station said it would be an effective tool of communications between police and the people. He added people could directly contact ministry officials through the channel about security-related problems and other grievances. The station was pilled of rebels... (More on P6, 12)

Dozens of Rebels Eliminated

Thousands on Streets to Protests Against Charlie Hebdo

University Entry Test Process Kicks Off

Call for hours with MTN 3+3 offer

Make as many calls as you want to all MTN numbers from 10 PM to 6 AM at the reduced rate of 3 Afghani per hour. To activate 3+3 offer, simply send a blank SMS to 996. Billing is per call.

Call 779 for details. Sim registration is mandatory.