HIDAT CITY - Officials in western Herat province said that violence against women had increased and that 34 women lost their lives during the past nine months.

The officials noted that international and local organizations had been working to address violence against women in Afghanistan, but that too much remained to be done.

Others said that most of the cases were cleared by the husbands of the women.

Women's rights activists said that killing women by their husbands had much less to do with the past nine months than it did with the current situation.

Positive Signals from Afghan-Pak Ties!

Last week, the visit of Pakistan's military chief, General Rashid Shairi, was one of the most important events in the country. This was the fourth visit of a Pakistan military leader within the past year. During his meeting, he not only met the president Ashraf Ghani but also addressed the issues related to the future of different topics, including the prospects of the Afghan government. At some sources, he had come to ask for cooperation of Afghan forces in the fight against the Taliban. It is also believed that he has taken into account the gains made in different parts of Afghanistan and the need for more effective strategies. The military political situation at this time is clear. Akbar Bank asst arrived without a vote and many members of the Council of Ministers.

The political analyst, at that time, and even now, believes that the peace process between Taliban and Zanwal cannot be fruitful without the involvement of Pakistan. It is also known that Afghanistan cannot be stabilized without the peace and stability of Afghanistan and Pakistan coordination. However, the political cooperation that has been developed since the previous year to the war against the Taliban was doubted and both the countries could not come to terms with each other in the interest of a stronger regional cooperation.

Nonetheless, the current Afghan government, right from the beginning, seems to be in a dilemma between the two countries. The political cooperation between the two countries has broken in the last two years. Afghanistan has been a key player in the regional cooperation in the past two years. As such, the current government is facing the issue of its strategy, cooperation, and the positive signal from Afghanistan in the past two years.

On Tuesday, the Afghan Minister of Defense, General Abdul Rahim, visited Kabul and met with President Ashraf Ghani and the Afghan National Security Council. During this meeting, the two ministers discussed the current situation in the country and the need for a strong political cooperation between the two countries.

In the context of the current situation, the Afghan government has made a strong statement regarding the positive signal from Pakistan. Additionally, the Afghan government has also made a strong statement regarding the need for a strong political cooperation. The Afghan government has also made a strong statement regarding the need for a strong political cooperation between the two countries.
