Peace Talks Seem to Crystallize

Afgans have been haggling for over a year, but after this session of the latest round of talks, the US and the Taliban announced that they had reached a ceasefire deal. The president of Afghanistan, Ghani, and the leader of the Taliban, Mullah Baradar, have both signed the agreement.

The ceasefire will go into effect on April 13th, 2020. The Taliban have agreed to stop all military operations and to release all prisoners. The US has agreed to withdraw its troops from Afghanistan within 14 months. This is a significant step towards peace in the region.

The talks were held in Doha, Qatar, and were attended by representatives from both sides. The talks were mediated by the US and the Taliban. The talks have been ongoing for over a year, and this is the first time that a ceasefire deal has been signed.

The ceasefire is a significant step towards peace in the region. It is hoped that this will lead to a reduction in violence and a reduction in the number of displaced people.

The US and the Taliban have both agreed to continue the talks, and it is hoped that this will lead to a final peace agreement in the near future.

UN-Sponsored Libya Talks Restart Without Tobruk Delegation

SKIRIRAT - The late U.N. special envoy to Libya, Mahmoud Jibril, was supposed to have landed in Paris on Friday after the delegation from the internationally recognized Government of National Accord (GNA) failed to show up for the talks. But, Jibril died of cancer just before the flight. Jibril was supposed to have been replaced by the U.N. special envoy Bernardino Léon who had expressed his intention to go to Libya with the largest possible delegation later next week, over a unity government and negotiations. But, theaxed to travel to Paris as Léon was then a return to Libya for which the date is yet to be confirmed.

While the delegation from the Tripoli-based General National Congress (GNC) is expected to arrive in London on Saturday, there has been no sign of the Tobruk-based delegation as it had failed to arrive in London as planned on Thursday.

The Tripoli delegation said they would discuss any requests for postponing the talks after the death of the late Léon, who was recently approved as head of its army. "We gave an official request to the UN to postpone the talks until the war criminal leader as Léon has been elected as the chief of the army," said Omar Hammoune of the GNR. The U.S. military said that Tobruk-based militias in Benghazi and who wielded a great deal of influence on the Tobruk government, called on Tuesday for the talks to be scrapped. "The U.N. and Europe can't shirk their responsibilities to stop Italy's aggression," the U.S. military said, adding that "the vast majority of Libya's citizens." The Italian army has been known to be a major source of aid for the GNA.
