No Burial at Sea for Osama, Body Parts Tossed Over Hind Kush

Journalists say US government's assertion that Osama was given an appropriate burial is false.

Laden was not given a burial at sea, nor was his body thrown into the ocean, according to a new report by the Associated Press.

The body was kept in a freezer for five days before being flown to the US. The US government has not released any information about the location of the burial site.

"We are aware of the burial claim, but we have no further details to share," said an official from the US military.

Officials from the Pakistan military have also denied the reports.

Analysts Doubt Pakistan's Ability to Abide by Taliban Talks

Some political analysts and consultants feel that Pakistan's ability to abide by the Taliban talks is doubtful. They suspect that Pakistan may use the talks as a negotiating tool to gain concessions from the US.

"Pakistan has a history of using talks as a way to buy time and gain leverage," said a political analyst. "They may use the talks to delay the US from taking military action against them."

Kerry to Explore Putin’s Flexibility on Ukraine, Syria

WASHINGTON - Secretary of State John Kerry hopes to explore Russia’s willingness to curb its menacing behavior in Ukraine and Syria as the two sides approach a new round of talks in the coming weeks.

Kerry, in a statement that went far beyond other recent American actions, said he was looking for a "serious, substantive discussion" with Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov. The two men are scheduled to meet at the United Nations in New York on Sept. 22, the same day that Kerry will visit Russia for talks.

The meeting comes as Ukraine is on the brink of a constitutional crisis and the United States is preparing to introduce new weapons to Ukraine. The United States and its European allies are also considering new sanctions against Russia if it continues to escalate its support for separatists in eastern Ukraine.

"I do not want to be repetitive," Kerry said in a statement. "I am not concerned about how we reached this point, but about what we do next."

Kerry’s spokesman, John Kirby, welcomed the possibility of a "serious, substantive conversation." He added that Kerry was "encouraged" by the possibility of a "constructive interaction" with Lavrov.

"The situation in eastern Ukraine is of great concern to the United States and its European allies," Kirby said. "We continue to call on Russia to take steps that reflect its desire to resolve this crisis peacefully.

Kerry’s comments come as he prepares to travel to eastern Ukraine for a trip that will include a visit to the site of the downed Malaysia Airlines Flight 17. The plane was shot down over territory held by separatists in eastern Ukraine in July 2014, killing all 298 people on board.

Kerry will also meet with Ukrainian President Petro Poroshenko, who has been under pressure from his own party to step down.

"It is in Russia’s interest to try to find a way to end the conflict in eastern Ukraine," Kirby said. "If there is interest, we will explore the possibility of a substantive discussion."
KABUL - Pakistan Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif on Tuesday pledged to complete projects his country has initiated in Afghanistan, should he arrive in Kabul at the head of a high-level delegation, held talks with President Asif Ali Zardari at the presidential palace.
