Economic Challenges and Afghanistan

By Dilawar Sherzai

The role of economy is of immense importance for a nation. Economy is for a country as a circulatory system is for a body. As in the absence of circulatory system, a body cannot survive; similarly, in the absence of the economy, the body, similarly, without economy, currency and other rudimentary necessities of life will not be able to survive the parts of country. Mostly, the other systems in the country, like social and political systems are greatly supported for the economic system. Certain experts believe that the nature and features of other systems are determined by the economic system. Consequently, it is impossible to talk about the maximum nation's strong economy so as to have currency and reliability. The economic development is seen everywhere. Business or trade forms one of the most important ones. If within a system there are steady investments and different businesses take roots, the nation will be on a strong economic base. The variety of different sectors is an indication of the nature of human society. Human beings have required businesses so as to have their living facilities supplied. During the course of human history, human beings have taken different forms and features and presently have reached its highest level. The underdeveloped and developing countries of the world that require the maximum variety of businesses so as to have their living facilities supplied. The right attitude in every nation has to ensure that the businesses have every opportunity to flourish.

There are certain requirements for businesses and investments to advance. Amidst their viability and stability play the most compelling roles. If different systems within a country are ideally and them not mixed for every one, the general is said to be prepared for the investors and businesses to take the plunge and launch their businesses. Businesses owning matured that they can now be taken over by other investors, and without such investors, they do not have any attraction for the markets. The investors in the real sense are those in the international market. Afghanistan is one of the same type of country where insecurity has been the most complicated problem. The investors in the country are not willing to go without the assurance of security. This will always be an issue of concern to the investors, which makes the importance of nation's security and stability. The outsiders and investors must also keep the national interests in their deliberation and must make sure that investors' and country's interests are not disturbed. Themwis, the investors must not be allowed to be dispersed in different parts of the country. The investors must be given necessary economic, administrative, and political support from the government, so they can become efficient. The investors and investors must also deal with the circumstances in a way that their interest is not disturbed. The government must have the best interests of the investors and the support for Afghanistan in their consideration.
