Turkmenistan Offers to Hold Inter-Afghan Talks Under UN Auspices

Ashgabat - Turkmenistan reiterated its readiness to deliver its political arm for holding the inter-Afghan presidential dialogue under the UN auspices and to take an active part in working out new political and diplomatic mechanisms to resolve the issue, the government of Turkmenistan said May 27. The statement was made during a meeting between President of Turkmenistan Gurbanguly Berdymukhamedov and the Afghan president’s Special Representative for the CBI countries Mohammad Shahzad Kargar. President Berdymukhamedov stressed his country's interest in the sustainable development of Afghanistan. Ashgabat stands for the peaceful settlement of the situation and the establishment of peace in the neighboring country by using (More on P2-04)

Afghani Bank Notes Wearing out Prematurely

KARL - Cautionsmen and restorers are said to be the cause of some 193 million AFG worth of paper money circulating prematurely, officials from the Afghan Central Bank said on Tuesday. The Central Bank is now expected to face the bill to replenish the market with new bank notes. According to officials, Afghan bank notes are expected to have a shelf-life of three years. However, the newly introduced notes are said to be a large amount of newly printed bills worn out as quickly as six months. Precaution of bank notes can result in them lasting for as long as six years, but there are also people who don’t use the bank notes properly and this causes a major threat to the notes in wear-out early," Central Bank Second Deputy Mohammad Ehsan Tawab said. University professor, Skiler Ahmad explained that replacing the premature (More on P3-04)

Saddiq Al-Abadi Pleads Guilty in US

WASHINGTON — Yemeni President Abd-Rabbu Mansour Hadi, who was engaged in a sharp falling out with the United States, is now being held in a prison in Manama, the capital of Bahrain.

According to officials, 13 Saudi border guards were killed along with dozens of Yemeni officials in a mass shooting in Tennessee. Officials said the guards had been transported to Tennessee after being shot during a raid in Yemen.

The incident took place after a number of Yemeni officials were killed in a government attack on an oil facility in Marib.

The drone strike, which was carried out by the US military, targeted a senior al-Qaeda leader in the area.

The attack was launched in response to the killing of 10 soldiers by Houthi rebels in a recent fight in the north of the country.

The Houthis have been fighting against government forces for years, and the latest assault marks the most recent in a series of attacks targeting government positions.

The Houthis have repeatedly threatened to escalate the conflict, and their recent actions have raised concerns about the stability of the region.

The US military has been active in Yemen for years, with a large base in the country and a significant presence in the region. The latest attack is the latest in a series of operations carried out by the US military in Yemen.

The Houthis have responded by targeting US military targets in Yemen, and the latest attack is likely to escalate tensions in the region.

The Houthis have been backed by Iran, while the US and its allies have supported the government forces.

The latest attack is likely to further complicate the situation in Yemen, where there are already multiple parties involved in the conflict.

Respect for Fellow Beings

Of the bonds that keep the members of a society close to one another, respect is by far the most important. Without it, no member of society would even consider the possibility that his society may be composed of more than one person. Yet, respect is not only a matter of the social order, it is a matter of self-respect, too, for respect to others is the only way to gain their respect.

Respecting others gives us enough opportunity to express ourselves and to develop our abilities. In a world where we are often the only ones capable of developing our abilities, respect is often the only way to develop them. Yet, respect is not only a matter of the social order, it is a matter of self-respect, too, for respect to others is the only way to gain their respect.

Russia Adopting ‘Increasingly Aggressive Posture’; Obama

WASHINGTON - US Secretary of Defense Robert Gates was accused of negligence Tuesday when a US helicopter crashed in Moscow, killing four soldiers. Gates, who was in Moscow for a meeting with Russian officials, was said to have personally chosen the site for the landing, which was later reported to be a "path to peace." The deal, between European powers and Russia and Ukraine, was aimed at ending a 3-year war in which the US has claimed nearly 3,000 lives and displaced 3 million people. The US has been particularly harsh in their criticism of a Russiantoucheslusive military strategy and the US has called for a more hands-on approach. Gates has been quoted as saying that there seems to be an "iron law of escalation" that requires the US to have a greater role in the conflict.
