The Ruins of Terrorism

It is really difficult to ignore the severity of the disaster induced by terrorism and wars today. Indeed, whatever the matter of fact, extremity and terrorism are reciprocal and have badly influenced the world, the value of human society and have marked a dreadful stigma on the prominence and signification of human beings. A glance at human history today has led us to think that this kind of situation has been evident for a long time. Extremism and terrorism which have hidden behind the second shelter of the law are the root cause of this disaster. On the one hand, terrorism does not aim to use a public or official pressure for private gain. Corruption is the second dilemma after insecurity that Afghans face today. Corruption in Afghanistan and our country, on one hand, is not only bribery, it consists of bribery, patronage, regulation abuse, and mismanagement of public resources. In the context of benefits of personal, party, ethnic or sectarian groups. By several investigations and reports, Afghanistan is a country in which many kinds of corruption are well known but there are many kinds of untraceable corruption as well, which is the root cause of this situation. A country in which majority of people live under poverty line is not a country in which the value of billions of dollars of salaries of some officials are nothing but corruption. In a country in which Afghanistan, some officials receive thousands of dollars as salaries but some others receive the same amount in Afghanistan. The extreme gap between salaries of officials seems to be a kind of corruption which has been justified by law. The article claims that the deep gap between salaries of officials is itself a concrete corruption and as well as one of the main causes of bribery and administrational reform of the country. As far as the officials of our country are concerned, the majority of them are civil servants not only cause bribery in government offices but as well as causes Taliban and Khan in public services. Corruption in Afghanistan. The word corruption "Fraud" has a lengthy record in Dari language by different concepts such as immorality and rebellion and illegal actions or what is known to the news "Fraud Edna," is a new expression in Dari literature and a new phenomenon in Afghanistan. The word corrupt has its roots in two words, namely the "corruption" and the "Fraud Edna," the corruption in Dari literature and the "corruption" in the context of its meaning shows how widespread and meaningful the meaning of a word is. According to UNDP findings in 2012, corruption was the big enemy of Afghan nation. In order to fight corruption and progress of the Afghan nation, the fight against corruption is the duty of every responsible citizen to analyze it by all its facts and figures.

Corruption has deep roots inside social and political structures and results from not exposing and not being affected by the effects of this kind of corruption, the political injustice is being practiced by means of the main and minor consequences of corruption in Afghanistan. A further distinction can be made between political corruption, which includes maintaining, fighting, and administrational corruption. Politically, the former takes the form of power, while the latter is political corruption, which is the form of corruption. The latter is considered a form of political corruption necessary to help them achieve their aims, which was to build some sort of an ideal kingdom on earth. By high-ranking politicians and decision-makers, the latter concerns influencing other political groups. The officials are responsible for administration and the public servants are the ones who are being committed by high-ranking officials and most of them are contractors and private services. These officials have political and administrative reforms, but there is no doubt that an official who does not have knowledge of corruption and administrative reforms is happening among the numbers of officials, it is not an official who does not have knowledge of corruption and administrative reforms in the country. Corruption cannot be restrained, which will spread further and will lead to the disintegration of a community and infect culture and traditions. In this situation it would be too difficult to control the entire nation from the disease of corruption. Afghanistan is dealing with both political and administrative reforms and the second one seems to be more frequent than the former one. There is no doubt that most of the corrupt officials desperately refer to the corruption. To speak to grounds to earth out of veracity, the basis of the tale of factionalism is spreading out is not enough to cover the monthly expenses of a family and obligate them to cover the rest of their expenses by illegal ways. The inadequate salaries of civil servants are one hand and their incomparable salaries with those working in private sectors, NGOs and high-rank on other hand provoke civil servants to compete in illegal ways e.g. when a person working in private sector is receiving thousands of dollars, it makes his/her friend who receives this amount in Afghan to compete him/her by any means.

The low salary of lower-level civil servants is not a fact, rather it has been covered by decision-making officials. According to the definition of corruption, the irregular legitimate position of salaries is in affection from officials by high-rank officials and justified by laws which are a part of the government. In this sentence, our country in the form of Afghanistan is being called "legitimate corruption." Afghanistan and its world know that, in terms of the fact of corruption, the Afghan nation is in the process of corruption and corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of corruption fight against it. The justified corruption of the Afghan nation is the process of In order to fight corruption basically, first of all we should avoid the process of corruption and the process of corruption. The mistakes in lives of many people on one hand and unscrupulousness on other hand. It is a law that needed to be passed to reveal a range of salaries for different positions without large differences in salary scales. Instead of squandering huge money in fighting corruption, better to fight the causes of corruption in order to prevent the corruption.
