Dostum Opposes Militia Force Idea

LAWAZN - First Vice Presi- dent Gen. Abdul Rashid Dostum, speaking during a visit to his home province, has op- posed the creation of militias in the country.

However, he also endorsed the idea of a public uprising against the Taliban, which the go- vernment has been trying to begin for some time.

In a meeting on Tuesday with the security and officials of Jowzjan in his guesthouse, called Dostum Palace, the for- mer wartime president praised the sacrifices of security forces and promised to address their concerns.

"I am the first Vice President and I have been up- red upon the request of officials, how can we conduct arbitrary operations and how can we build militia forces?" Dostum stated in Shebargan. More on Page 4 (2).

HPC Prepares for Second Round of Taliban Talks

KABUL - The Afghanistan High Peace Council (HPC) on Monday evening announced that preparations are now underway for the second round of peace negotiation talks with the Taliban, which are expected to begin in two weeks.

According to HPC spokesman Mush- hal Shahda Shahid, an executive committee has been appointed for the purpose of finalizing the agenda of the talks in coordination with inclu- sive peace talks on the peace process.

A new round of talks is expected to begin in early August.

US Yet to Decide Pace of Withdrawal from Afghanistan: Spokesman

KABUL - A spokesman for US military forces in Afghanistan said that the pace of the US withdrawal from Afghanistan by the end of June has not been determined, and that the decision is up to the administration of the US government.

The spokesman, Colonel Brian Tishom, made the re- marks in an interview with AP.

Tishom said the US government is determined to complete its withdrawal from Afghanistan by the end of June.

He said that the Taliban was looking for an amicable solution to end the conflict in Afghanistan.

Spokesman for the US military forces in Afghanistan, Maj. Gen. Joseph Votel, said that the United States was determined to complete its withdrawal from Afghanistan by the end of June.

Shani Orders Probe, US Forces Retreat ANA Losses

KABUL - President Ashraf Ghani appointed a delega- tion to investigate an airstrike involving two US helicopters that attacked an Afghan National Army outpost in central Logar province. Following weekend clashes, the US military forces began to withdraw from the area.

Officials in Logar said the helicopters targeted the ANA checkpoint in the Baraki Bank district’s Chistan area at about dawn.

In a wide-ranging interview with President Ghani, Ghani expressed his deep concern over the inci- dent and appointed a delegation to investigate the matter.

Ghani instructed foreign troops should exercise ut- most care concerning Afghan forces and civilians.

The president expressed his condolences to families of the slain soldiers and praised for early recovery of those wounded in the incident.

Meanwhile, US forces confirmed their involvement in the incident that resulted in the death of seven and injury of five Afghan National Army soldiers.

It said in a statement on Sunday that the incident involved a joint US-NATO and ANA command in Afghanistan, and that its forces were not involved in the incident.

"We offer our deepest condolences to the families of those in- jured and killed in this tragic incident," the statement said. More on Page 4 (2).

Reform Head Appointment Might Resolve Electoral Matters

May 1 and local electoral elections were repeatedly postponed, raising concern about whether an agreement in reform in this sector is the only available avenue. The spoils of this process would be decided by the leaders of the two sides, who have benefited from the lack of a clear agreement.

As for the fall in 2014, a large amount of about $100 billion of goods and services funded by the US-led ISAF and other international community were financed into Afghanistan. The aid so far provided for the Afghan government has been inadequate, however. The country is still facing many challenges, including a high unemployment rate, widespread anti-government corruption, and the desire for international investment. Therefore, we might not be wrong to make the following questions to the leaders of the Afghan government:

Despite the US's financial support, the Afghan government has not been able to achieve significant progress in the area of corruption. The country is still facing many challenges, including a high unemployment rate, widespread anti-government corruption, and the desire for international investment. Therefore, we might not be wrong to make the following questions to the leaders of the Afghan government:

The US government has the responsibility to ensure that the aid received by the Afghan government is used for the benefit of the Afghan people. The government should provide clear and transparent reports on how the aid received is being used. The government should also establish mechanisms to monitor the use of aid and ensure that it is being used for the benefit of the Afghan people.

In conclusion, the Afghan government has the responsibility to ensure that the aid received by the Afghan government is used for the benefit of the Afghan people. The government should provide clear and transparent reports on how the aid received is being used. The government should also establish mechanisms to monitor the use of aid and ensure that it is being used for the benefit of the Afghan people.

WASHINGTON — President Barack Obama took a pitch to a gathering of 10,000-strong Iraq war veterans on Tuesday in the quest for support for his policy of trying to arrange a settlement of the conflict in the Middle East.

Obama, in a speech before a crowd of veterans at the Iraq Veterans Against the War conference in Washington, called for a "Nov. 11" ceasefire in Iraq and Syria. He also said he would work with Congress to provide "necessary support" to the veterans who had served in Iraq and Afghanistan.

"I want to be clear that this is not an eternal commitment," Obama said in his address. "I want to be clear that this is an action that we take in support of our veterans and their families."
