Reforms for Parliamentary Vote Expected within Two Months

KARUL - The Electoral Reform Commission (ERC) on Sunday announced that preliminary reforms needed to pave the way for a new round of parliamentary elections were in place. Yet ERC officials have also reaffirmed their commitment to bring broader, fundamental reforms to the country's electoral system.

Meanwhile, a number of election monitoring groups have expressed doubts about the ERC's capacity to implement the necessary and fundamental reforms they have cleared for the integrity of the 2014 presidential election.

The ERC has thus given three months by President Ashraf Ghani to get reforms in place. If this timeline is extended, naturally, we will work on three programs: a short-term program for holding the parliamentary elections, a medium-term program for holding the presidential elections, and a long-term program for future elections in Afghanistan," ERC Deputy Chief Zuidulghiy Tawhil said on Sunday. Although the ERC has not been charged with selecting the date for parliamentary elections, which are already past two months delayed, it officials have hinted at the likely timeframe for the elections by pledging to undertake the necessary reforms within two months.

"We need it. (More on P&L/D)"

ALP, Border Police Blamed for Deal with Taliban

FAZIZABAD - Police Chief of northeastern Badakhshan, Badakhshan’s provincial police commissioner (ALP) and border police for their alleged surrender to Taliban in Faizabad district.

Gen. Tahsin was admonished and dismissed in the presence of senior police officers, provincial ALP and ALP officers for their surrender to Taliban in Faizabad district.

He said that border police and ALP commander had enough weapons and other equipment, hence their surrender was questionable.

He said that border police and ALP commander had enough weapons and other equipment, hence their surrender was questionable.

Salma Dam Expected to be Completed by mid-2016: India

HEBAT CITY - The Commissioner General of Irrigation in western Herat province announced that Salma Dam’s canal closure of diversion Tunnel Gate and start of filling of dam expected to be completed by mid-2016: India.

He said that since the filling of 30 kilometers long and 3.7 kilometers wide dam reservoir with 400 million m3 would take nine to twelve months.

Salma Dam is 430 million hydroelectric and irrigation project being (More on P&L/D)

ALP, Border Police Blamed for Deal with Taliban

FAZIZABAD - Police Chief of northeastern Badakhshan, Badakhshan’s provincial police commissioner (ALP) and border police for their alleged surrender to Taliban in Faizabad district.

Gen. Tahsin was admonished and dismissed in the presence of senior police officers, provincial ALP and ALP officers for their surrender to Taliban in Faizabad district.

He said that border police and ALP commander had enough weapons and other equipment, hence their surrender was questionable.

He said that border police and ALP commander had enough weapons and other equipment, hence their surrender was questionable.

Salma Dam Expected to be Completed by mid-2016: India

HEBAT CITY - The Commissioner General of Irrigation in western Herat province announced that Salma Dam’s canal closure of diversion Tunnel Gate and start of filling of dam expected to be completed by mid-2016: India.

He said that since the filling of 30 kilometers long and 3.7 kilometers wide dam reservoir with 400 million m3 would take nine to twelve months.

Salma Dam is 430 million hydroelectric and irrigation project being (More on P&L/D)
Gang of Kidnappers Busted in Helmand

LASHKARGAH, The National Directorate of Security (NDS)–Afghanistan’s intelligence agency has busted a gang of kidnappers in southern Helmand province.

A statement issued by NDS in a press release on Tuesday said that one member of the gang was arrested from the jurisdiction of Lashkargah district, the capital of Lashkargah.

According to NDS statement, the nine-member group was involved in leading various cases of kidnapping of military groups in order to obtain ransom.

The statement further states that the group has led 15 cases of kidnapping for ransom and robbery.

The group has confessed to their crimes, the statement adds that the National Directorate of Security (NDS) usually does not disclose the arrest or the achievement of the cases.

Afghan News that militants blew up an electric tower in Shahidabad district of the area last night, clearing the area and killing 10 other civilians.

Floods Wash Away Homes of Janwaz

SHHERIZADAN – As many as 30 houses in Qumes and Qaim Ab districts of southern Faryab province have been damaged following heavy rainfall.

Two policemen have been killed and five others wounded in the twin attack.

Herat Road Mishap Leaves 1 Dead, 13 Wounded

HERAT CITY – At least one person has been killed and 13 others wounded in a road accident in Herat.

One passenger vehicle and two tractors collided with each other on the road leading to the district of Ghori Bazar.

One woman was killed and 12 others injured in the accident.

Wuhan’s Natural Disaster Management Department said that 15 people have been rescued so far.

Women and children were among the dead, he said, adding that 100 houses, farms and orchards had been destroyed in the floods.

US Drone Strike in Nangarhar Leaves 5 Rebels Dead

VIRGH – At least five suspected Taliban militants were killed in a drone strike in eastern Nangarhar province.

A US drone strike on Thursday night killed five Taliban militants on a road in Chokikhzai locality of Labiakh district.

Taliban militants have yet to comment on the incident.

Seven Dead, 8 Hurt in Groups Fighting in Zabul

QALAT – At least seven armed fighters were killed and eight others wounded in a clash between Taliban and Afghan security forces in Zabul province.

A Taliban sticky bomb attack on Saturday in the district of Ahmadi, Zabul province, on official said Sunday.

Fazal Akin, police spokesman, said three police officers were wounded in the conflict.

The group has been reported to be active in the area.

Military Cut Power Supply Lines in Faryab

MAMANON – Taliban have cut power supply lines in some areas of Faryab province, which plunged the province into darkness.

An official said Sunday.

Taliban fighters in Tekh Shakh and Sharobi villages in the district of Babgah were stopped from entering the area and other areas.

Kabul airport is the site of the main international airport in Afghanistan.

You might not put all of your faith in your vision as a general rule, you prefer decisions based on the hard cold facts of reality, there’s no such thing as a psychic tide, there is no such thing as knowing signs today and it’s advantageous to listen. Obviously, you can choose to shut down your imagination, ignore your hunches and pay the price later.

The Moon may be a gleaming beacon, but it is not a source of truth. You may be losing your way in the darkness of the new moon.

Aquarius (Jan 20-Feb 18)

Yes, your memories are a treasure chest, but do you think your conclusions are actually quite sound? However, you might want to invest an information investment because you’re not thinking of it especially if you’re starting to think of your resources.

Capricorn (Dec 21-Jan 19)

You don’t have any intention to connect your beliefs. You have the good fortune to be able to act in vivid colors and do you think because you are not ready to emerge in fantasy only get you in the way of success now unless you invest in your memory? You are losing her up your imagination: a normal way to emerge your realistic routine, but remaining it’s difficult.

Outlook Horoscope

Your life may be a thing of beauty in the sense of your own business, but you are more successful if you make your life comfortable, making a career of your passion.

Your vision may be a major cause of frustration, but it is not a failure of imagination. You have the ability to make such decisions.

Taurus (Apr 21-May 20)

Your future seems so uncertain for your life, but you might want to know which way to turn back. You may try to adopt your day in good detail because you know how to properly interpret what you are going through. Unfortunately, the lines on your face are not a reflection of your inner world.

Virgo (Aug 23 - Sep 22)

You might be under the impression of being left to your own devise today, but you also desire someone to be around.

Leo (Jul 23-Aug 21)

Your optimism is a wonderful asset as long as you don’t lose either, but if you make it to your advantage, you will not be able to be turned into something practical.

You may be a talking a great deal of know-how, but it may be difficult to communicate with how your inspiration might be thinner than the others to your eyes. You might be surprised to start a project but you still think of how to improve the long-term goals. Ultimately, it’s easier to encourage someone else than it is to change your mindset.

Scorpio (Oct 23-Nov 21)

You’re sitting an exemplary example at work, but don’t be too much through your inspiration may be thinner than the others to your eyes. You might be surprised to start a project but you still think of how to improve the long-term goals. Ultimately, it’s easier to encourage someone else than it is to change your mindset.

People just don’t understand your behavior.

You may have an abundance of great ideas and energy of energy, but you may be thinking in the heat of the moment now that you can’t keep up with you. Try stopping to exclude others on your own, you are losing your energy, but before you accept that you’re on your own. The idea of losing your energy is not just dangerous.

3. You may be in a situation where you are under a lot of stress, and you may feel that you are under a lot of stress.

6. A strong sense of responsibility.

1. A strong sense of responsibility.

2. A strong sense of responsibility.

5. A strong sense of responsibility.

4. A strong sense of responsibility.
July 27, 2015

Government Should Reach Out to War-Ravaged Masses

Security condition in Afghanistan is constantly declining. Super-blooms have scarred the land and the security forces' situation is even worse. The security forces, in addition to taking care of their duties, are often targeted by violent attackers. If the Afghan government wants to regain the public's trust, it is essential to reach out to the war-ravaged masses. Therefore, we must improve our government's policies and approach in reaching out to the war-ravaged masses.

By Dilawar Sherzai

The security condition in Afghanistan is constantly declining. Super-blooms have scarred the land, and the security forces' situation is even worse. The security forces, in addition to taking care of their duties, are often targeted by violent attackers. If the Afghan government wants to regain the public’s trust, it is essential to reach out to the war-ravaged masses. Therefore, we must improve our government's policies and approach in reaching out to the war-ravaged masses.

The current security condition in Afghanistan islanders complex and challenging. The security forces are facing numerous challenges, including terrorism, drug trafficking, and corruption. To address these challenges, the government must adopt a comprehensive approach that includes strengthening the military, improving police training, and promoting political stability.

However, the Afghan government must also focus on improving its public service delivery. The government must work hard to deliver basic services such as education, health care, and water and sanitation to the war-ravaged masses. This will help to build trust and support for the government's efforts to improve security.

The government must also work to build partnerships with local communities. This will help to ensure that the security forces are well-integrated into the local communities and that they are able to effectively address the needs of the war-ravaged masses.

In conclusion, the Afghan government must adopt a comprehensive approach to improving security and addressing the needs of the war-ravaged masses. This will require a sustained commitment to improving the security forces, delivering basic services, and building partnerships with local communities. Only through such an approach can the Afghan government hope to regain the trust of the war-ravaged masses and ensure a brighter future for Afghanistan.
(11) Reformers for a "New Era in China" believe that a measure of the government remains on one side of the fence, and that it would remain on that side. They (the reformers) could be seen as an, "outside" force. But on an international level, they face a difficult and complex problem. A competitive, rule-based, and democratic China is a formidable force to be reckoned with, and one that no single power can dominate or neutralize. This means that the reformers are not likely to be able to change the course of history on their own. They need to work together with other forces of change, both inside and outside China, to bring about the desired change in China. They need to be patient and persistent, and to be willing to take risks in order to achieve their goals.

(9) The position of the Reformers will be key in determining the future of Chinese politics. If the Reformers are successful in gaining the support of the masses, they will be able to push through their agenda of political and economic reform. If they are not able to gain the support of the masses, they will be marginalized and their influence will be limited. The outcome of this struggle will determine the future of China. The Reformers must be prepared to face opposition and challenges, and they must be willing to work hard and sacrifice in order to achieve their goals. They must also be prepared to work with other forces of change, both inside and outside China, in order to bring about the desired change in China.

(6) To make the economy work, it is crucial that the government and private sector work together to promote economic growth. The government can provide the necessary infrastructure and regulations, while the private sector can provide the necessary innovation and entrepreneurship. The government and private sector must work together to create a stable and predictable environment for investment and growth. This will require the government to be transparent and accountable, while the private sector must be willing to take on risks and be innovative. The government must also be willing to listen to the concerns of the private sector and work with them to find solutions to problems.

(5) The government has a key role to play in the development of the economy. It can provide the necessary infrastructure and regulations, while the private sector can provide the necessary innovation and entrepreneurship. The government and private sector must work together to create a stable and predictable environment for investment and growth. This will require the government to be transparent and accountable, while the private sector must be willing to take on risks and be innovative. The government must also be willing to listen to the concerns of the private sector and work with them to find solutions to problems.

(2) With a government in control, the economy can grow and society can be stable. The government has the responsibility to ensure that the economy is on a sound footing, and that society is stable. This will require the government to be transparent and accountable, while the private sector must be willing to take on risks and be innovative. The government must also be willing to listen to the concerns of the private sector and work with them to find solutions to problems.

(1) The government has a key role to play in the development of the economy. It can provide the necessary infrastructure and regulations, while the private sector can provide the necessary innovation and entrepreneurship. The government and private sector must work together to create a stable and predictable environment for investment and growth. This will require the government to be transparent and accountable, while the private sector must be willing to take on risks and be innovative. The government must also be willing to listen to the concerns of the private sector and work with them to find solutions to problems.
Israel Rejects Kerry's Warning on Iran Nuclear Deal

Israel has rejected US President Barack Obama's warning that the United States may soon be faced with a nuclear-armed Iran, saying it would not be forced to accommodate a nuclear Iran.

"We have made it clear to the world, and to Iran, that the United States will not tolerate a nuclear Iran," US National Security Advisor Susan Rice said in remarks included in a speech to the American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC) in Washington.

"The United States is committed to preventing a nuclear Iran," Rice said. "This is a historic danger for the United States and our allies. If Iran is allowed to have nuclear weapons, it will pose a direct threat to our security and to the security of our allies in the region and around the world."

Israel has long been a vocal opponent of a nuclear Iran and has threatened to take military action if necessary to prevent the country from acquiring nuclear weapons.

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons," Rice said. "We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

Iran has repeatedly denied claims that it is developing nuclear weapons and has said that it is only enriching uranium for peaceful purposes.

Israel says it has a "red line" beyond which it will not go, and has threatened to take military action if Iran crosses that line.

"Israel's red line is clear," Rice said. "We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world.

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

Israel is a nuclear-armed country, and has a strategic nuclear deterrent in case of a conflict with Iran.

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

Israel rejects Kerry's Warning on Iran Nuclear Deal

Israel has rejected US President Barack Obama's warning that the United States may soon be faced with a nuclear-armed Iran, saying it would not be forced to accommodate a nuclear Iran.

"We have made it clear to the world, and to Iran, that the United States will not tolerate a nuclear Iran," US National Security Advisor Susan Rice said in remarks included in a speech to the American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC) in Washington.

"The United States is committed to preventing a nuclear Iran," Rice said. "This is a historic danger for the United States and our allies in the region and around the world. If Iran is allowed to have nuclear weapons, it will pose a direct threat to our security and to the security of our allies in the region and around the world."

Israel has long been a vocal opponent of a nuclear Iran and has threatened to take military action if necessary to prevent the country from acquiring nuclear weapons.

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons," Rice said. "We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

Iran has repeatedly denied claims that it is developing nuclear weapons and has said that it is only enriching uranium for peaceful purposes.

Israel says it has a "red line" beyond which it will not go, and has threatened to take military action if Iran crosses that line.

"Israel's red line is clear," Rice said. "We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world.

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

Israel is a nuclear-armed country, and has a strategic nuclear deterrent in case of a conflict with Iran.

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

Israel rejects Kerry's Warning on Iran Nuclear Deal

Israel has rejected US President Barack Obama's warning that the United States may soon be faced with a nuclear-armed Iran, saying it would not be forced to accommodate a nuclear Iran.

"We have made it clear to the world, and to Iran, that the United States will not tolerate a nuclear Iran," US National Security Advisor Susan Rice said in remarks included in a speech to the American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC) in Washington.

"The United States is committed to preventing a nuclear Iran," Rice said. "This is a historic danger for the United States and our allies in the region and around the world. If Iran is allowed to have nuclear weapons, it will pose a direct threat to our security and to the security of our allies in the region and around the world."

Israel has long been a vocal opponent of a nuclear Iran and has threatened to take military action if necessary to prevent the country from acquiring nuclear weapons.

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons," Rice said. "We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

Iran has repeatedly denied claims that it is developing nuclear weapons and has said that it is only enriching uranium for peaceful purposes.

Israel says it has a "red line" beyond which it will not go, and has threatened to take military action if Iran crosses that line.

"Israel's red line is clear," Rice said. "We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world.

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

Israel is a nuclear-armed country, and has a strategic nuclear deterrent in case of a conflict with Iran.

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons. We will not allow Iran to threaten our allies in the region and around the world. We will not allow Iran to destabilize the region and the world."

Israel rejects Kerry's Warning on Iran Nuclear Deal

Israel has rejected US President Barack Obama's warning that the United States may soon be faced with a nuclear-armed Iran, saying it would not be forced to accommodate a nuclear Iran.

"We have made it clear to the world, and to Iran, that the United States will not tolerate a nuclear Iran," US National Security Advisor Susan Rice said in remarks included in a speech to the American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC) in Washington.

"The United States is committed to preventing a nuclear Iran," Rice said. "This is a historic danger for the United States and our allies in the region and around the world. If Iran is allowed to have nuclear weapons, it will pose a direct threat to our security and to the security of our allies in the region and around the world."

Israel has long been a vocal opponent of a nuclear Iran and has threatened to take military action if necessary to prevent the country from acquiring nuclear weapons.

"We will not allow Iran to acquire nuclear weapons," Rice said. "We will not allow Iran to threat...
MoD to Launch Large-Military Operation in North

KARUL - The Ministry of Defense (MoD) on Saturday announced that it would launch a large-scale military operation in the north of Afghanistan, targeting Afghan insurgents and hosting illegal law and order in the embattled region.

The news comes after months of tensions between the Afghan authorities and Taliban militants in provinces across northern Afghanistan, with Kabul traditionally being a less potent part of the Taliban's stronghold.

Earlier this year, insurgents pushed into provinces like Baghlan, Kunduz, Baghlan and Balkh, prompting local inhabitants to arm themselves and band together in order to protect against the Taliban's attacks.

"The Taliban in the north of Afghanistan are a serious threat to our national security," said President Ashraf Ghani's spokesman Zafar Hashimi. "They have attacked our security forces and our civilians. We will not tolerate this kind of behavior."

A senior U.S. official confirmed that the operation was expected to last several months, with the aim of dislodging the Taliban from their strongholds.

"This operation is a significant step in our efforts to stabilize the region and ensure security for our citizens," the official said.

The Taliban, however, have not yet responded to the U.S. operation, and no details were provided on the tactics or timeline.

taliban abduct 14 passengers in baghlan province

In a statement, the Taliban claimed responsibility for the abduction of 14 passengers in the northern Baghlan province on Saturday, claiming that they were traveling to the capital, Kabul.

The Taliban said that 14 passengers were taken hostage on a bus traveling from Kunduz to Kabul. They added that the bus was stopped by armed Insurgents on the road, including six women, on a provincial Council of Councils, in a way that has not yet been reported to the government - neither high the Taliban.

Kabul - Three hundred and fifty U.S. Air Force personnel in the U.S. were deployed to Afghanistan to provide support to local forces. A portion of the 350 U.S. Air Force personnel based in the U.S. on Friday.

The deployment comes as the U.S. military has increased its presence in Afghanistan, following a request from the Afghan government to augment its forces.

AFAROO - The U.S. forces are being provided with support and protection over present forces. They say they also deliver critical training to the Afghan forces.

President Ashraf Ghani's spokesman Zafar Hashimi said the deployment was to support and long-term struggle capabilities.

KABUL - The Ministry of Defense (MoD) has announced that it has arrested a Taliban insurgent who was involved in the abduction of 14 passengers in Baghlan Province.

A senior MoD official said the incident took place in Pul-e-Khumri, the capital of the province, and that a number of Taliban insurgents stopped a bus and killed six women, including; six women, on a provincial Council of Councils, in a way that has not yet been reported to the government - neither high the Taliban.

President Ashraf Ghani's spokesman Zafar Hashimi said the Taliban was involved in the abduction of 14 passengers in Baghlan Province.

The Taliban has been targeting civilians in the region with a series of attacks in recent months.

Taliban specify that they are targeting civilians as a way of punishing the Afghan government for its crackdown on their fighters.

Afghanistan Seeks Tajikistan's Support for Cross-Border Trade

KABUL - Afghanistan has sought support from Tajikistan for cross-border trade, with the two countries discussing potential projects to boost trade and reduce economic dependence on Pakistan.

Afghan officials say they hope to increase trade flows through the construction of new border crossing points.

Social Media Tasty Farm in Nangarhar Yields Positive Result

KABUL - A social media user has been effective in appealing the officials to admit corruption, trapping, lewdness, and other issues.

On Sunday, social media user Abdul Rashid claimed that he has received threats and extortion from local officials in Nangarhar province.

He said that he has received threats and extortion from local officials in Nangarhar province.

"I have received threats and extortion from local officials in Nangarhar province," Rashid said.

KARUL - The ministry of National Defense has announced the arrest of a Taliban fighter who was involved in an attack on a NATO convoy in eastern Nangarhar province.

According to the CBI press release, the attack took place on July 24 at a NATO convoy near Jalalabad.

The CBI said that the attacker was identified as a member of the Taliban and that he was killed in the attack.

"The Taliban insignia is the biggest loser in the fight against our forces," said a senior MoD official.

The Taliban have been involved in a series of attacks in the region in recent months.

Afghan officials say that the Taliban have been targeting civilians in the region as a way of punishing the Afghan government for its crackdown on their fighters.