Javad Zarif
Afghan Govt., Taliban Talks will Yield Positive Outcome

SLAMABAD - Iranian Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif arrived in Islamabad to hold high-level talks with his Pakistani counterpart Shah Mehmood Qureshi to discuss ways to achieve a positive outcome from the talks between the Afghan Taliban and Afghan government being mediated by Pakistan, which will help bring peace to the region, media reports. The Iranian press reported that Zarif during his day-long visit to Pakistan, addressed a press conference along with Qureshi, adding to Prime Minister’s keenness on foreign affairs and national security.

He said that the earlier reviewed the regional situation and extension. And said that views on regional and international issues of mutual interest were also exchanged during the meeting. And after the media reports, the Pakistan gas pipeline was also a key issue in the negotiations. And the need for security and economic connectivity within the region should be improved further to achieve better economic and commercial activity.

The news came after the Afghan government was informed that the talks between the Afghan Taliban and the Afghan government are a step towards achieving peace in Afghanistan.

KARUL - US Army Brig. Gen. Wilson Shoffner from Afghanistan’s Resolute Support mission on Thursday acknowledged that although the Afghan government was fully responsible for the country’s security, it will still need and deserves the support of US and coalition forces.

Zarif also touched on the issue of Daesh in the country and said that there is no doubt that they are present there but not at the point where they can conduct operations like those in Iraq and Syria. He said however that “we welcome them in our country.”

Civilian Casualties Rise in Northern Zone: AHRC

KUNDuz - The Afghanistan Independent Human Rights Commission (AHRC) on Thursday expressed concern over a surge in civilian casualties in the northern zone this year. Messages on the Occasion of the Independence Day of Pakistan August 14, 2015

Mamnoon Hussain
President Islamabad of Pakistan

My dear countrymen!

Today, we are celebrating our 70th Independence Day with renewed zeal and vigour and with the conviction that this Day will be a��er of political, economic and social stability. The nation knows that during the last five years, the government and the people of Pakistan have been working tirelessly to meet the challenges facing the country. The government has made significant progress in all sectors, including economic development, education, health, and infrastructure. The people of Pakistan have been actively participating in the development of their country, and the government has been working to create a better future for all.

Now, as we mark this historic day, let us reaffirm our commitment to building a stronger and more prosperous Pakistan. Let us work together to overcome the challenges we face and to create a brighter future for our children.

Thank you.

Pakistan President

Muhammad Nawaz Sharif
Prime Minister of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan

"I congratulate all the countrymen on the auspicious occasion of the independence Day of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan. It is also a day of happiness. A day of being free from the yoke of foreign domination. It is a day for celebrating the achievements of our people and for remembering the sacrifices of our heroes. It is a day for all Pakistanis to work together for the betterment of our country."

Today, we should also remember those great men who sacrificed their lives for the sake of our country and its freedom.

Dear countrymen!

Today is a day of self-accountability too. We will have to ponder over as to what mistakes we committed in the past that we have to rectify in the present.

We should ask ourselves what challenges do we face today, and how we can overcome them.

In the 21st century, Pakistan is making progress in various fields, including education, health, and infrastructure. The government has been working to create a better future for all.

Let us all work together to build a brighter future for Pakistan.

Pakistan Prime Minister

Syed Abbar Hussain
Ambassador of Pakistan to Afghanistan

Today, the people of Pakistan are celebrating the 70th Independence Day. On this auspicious occasion, I wish to extend my best wishes to all my countrymen living in Afghanistan.

The independence Day reminds us of the immense sacrifices rendered by our fathers in achieving a separate homeland, where they could live their lives with freedom and dignity. Let us not forget that Pakistan was the culmination of a long constitutional struggle. It was made possible because countless people gave their blood to the light of freedom.

The struggle for creation of Pakistan, under the inspiring leadership of Quaid-e-Azam Muhammad Ali Jinnah, represents a fascinating tale of commitment, courage and sacrifice. Let us re-nourish our pledge today regarding our personal interest, we will dedicate our energies for Pakistan and lead it to high level of development and prosperity as envisioned by Allama Muhammad Iqbal and Quaid-e-Azam Muhammad Ali Jinnah. While celebrating this Independence Day anniversary, we also reaffirm our commitment to further expand and cement our relations with Pakistan. Pakistan would continue its endeavours to work for the promotion of peace and stability in this country; as a peaceful and stable Afghanistan is not only in the interest of Pakistan but of the whole region. Pakistan has been playing its role in the reconstruction of Afghanistan and contributing towards the socio-economic development of this brotherly nation.

Thank you.
Gains of Operation Zarb-e-Azb
By A.M. Ansari

The Zarb-e-Azb operation, launched by the Army on 4 May 2014, has helped restore peace in the country as well as improve the overall security environment. The operation inflicted severe losses on the terrorists and destroyed their infrastructure, hiding and communication systems, weakening their ability to launch major attacks. Since the start of the operation, the security forces of the country have successfully conducted more than 9000 intelligence-based operations and arrested thousands of terrorists and their affiliates while 218 terrorists were killed in the operations. Surely, those measures, taken by the security and intelligence agencies, led to considerable decline in terrorist attacks in the country.

The operation significantly improved the security landscape of the country. It is encouraging to see that the impact of the operation has been felt in Balochistan, Karachi, Punjab and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa. The reason for the decline is that the offensive has weakened the Islamic State of Pakistan in the country to launch more attacks in the country. Apart from the improvement in security situation, the operation has also improved the image of the country internationally as the world acknowledges Pakistan's contribution and successes against the war on terror. The people of Pakistan are proud of their armed forces who have successfully conducted many anti-terror operations in the past in various parts of Pakistan, including Matakadal Division, Bara, Muzaffarabad, Khyber and Orangi areas. And now, fortunately, normalcy and peace have been restored in these terror-stricken areas.

It is worth mentioning here that the international community, including Afghanistan, were constantly urging Pakistan to launch operation in North Waziristan. Pakistan, however, has been cautious at the suitable time, in one of the most difficult terrain and environment but our brave soldiers successfully accomplished the assigned mission by offering intense battle which led to the defeat of terrorists. This operation was also extended to the entire country against all terrorist groups irrespective of their nationalities. The operation led to the displacement of more than one million people which put an additional burden on Pakistan's economy. In fact, the aim behind the operation was to destroy the sanctuaries of the terrorists and to impart an object to improve security environment in both Pakistan and Afghanistan. The BAF and Afghan government were informed, prior to the operation, to take adequate measures on the other side of the border to stop fleeing terrorists.

Terrorism is the common enemy of both Pakistan and Afghanistan as they have been facing this menace. It is in the interest of both sides to enhance cooperation and work together to defeat and uproot the evil forces of terrorism. High costs associated with transit trade have always been a major concern for traders as multiple regulatory factors contribute towards inflating of such costs. However, when it comes to Afghan transit trade, whatever such impediments were pointed out, Pakistan has always taken practical steps to remove such bottlenecks altogether and minimize their inflicting effects. Since its inception in 2010, the regulatory regime of Afghanistan-Pakistan Transit Trade Agreement (APTTA) has been released multiple times on Afghan demand. Earlier, the system of Electronic Data Interface (EDI) was introduced by Pakistan side which was a positive effect in bringing down such costs. This year also several major steps were taken by the Pakistani side to facilitate the Afghan traders, which will substantially reduce the cost of such trade. These steps are as following:

a) Procedures have been put in place to allow system based Partial shipment of Afghan transit goods instead of their mutual processing. It has been a sore point for Afghan Traders for quite some time and was previously treated as multiple obstacles and terms.

b) The scanning of Afghan transit cargo has been practically reduced to only 2% instead of previous 25% and as a result now almost 90% Afghan cargo is cleared on the first day of their arrival at Karachi port.

c) Another important element of Afghan was met by allowing Afghan traders to carry their goods up to Wagah as well as they are not allowed to bring back whatever Pakistani goods are permitted for export to Afghanistan.

d) It has been decided in principle to once again operationalize Pakistan Railways for the purpose of carrying Afghan transit goods as Pakistan Railways has agreed to carry up to 40,000 containers of Afghan transit cargo to Turkmenistan and Chorsu per week.

Pakistan Government is doing all to facilitate Afghan traders whether they are engaged in transit trade or bilateral trade and the embassy takes pride in promoting its facilitative role when it comes to Afghan businessmen.

Transforming Af-Pak Relation

At all of the violence endured by Talibans as the continued rounds of airstrikes by NATO forces to push back the insurgents at, at different verses have left the security officials to plan to track down the militants in the continuance of its attack that rocked the Kabul city with loud bangs. Following the attack and掌握 the highly credible security source pointed out to Pakistan being behind the attack, Uncle. Undoubtedly, Talibans warfare is an ongoing battle that is beyond the reach of success, undetermined. Above all, the Af-Pak border is a government and concerned departmental Pakistan within a state to ensure peace and security of its citizens. However, the governments that suffer from administrative incapacity and the lack of a security policy, the are not capable of handling the nearly weaker states of the society that tend to be more - must it be noted a long time. Worse, an ethical and religious emptiness and the corrupt people in a whole work as a result. All of this is of great concern to Pakistan, which has been able to provide security to its people and the common people in the border area. Moreover, in all the worst security state the distraits are expanding the range of their attacks, which is the country of the fight against terrorism. It is also critical to note that the Af-Pak border is the area of the_all security forces and the border police. The Intelligent Pakistan Human Rights Commission (IHRC) is actively monitoring the situation to ensure the safety of the citizens and the security of the country. The Afghan local police standing on the front, with the help of the security forces, is taking all necessary steps to maintain the security of the border areas.

Finally, the Afghan Human Rights Commission (AHR) of the Afghan-Afghan border is discussed concerns the increased level of violence and the spike in civilian casualties in Afghanistan. According to the AHR, there is a reported more than 50 percent in the number of civilian casualties in Afghanistan. The situation is critical, and the Af-Pak border is a serious threat to the security and stability of the region.

For this reason, the Afghan Human Rights Commission (AHR) has called on the Afghan government and the security forces to take all necessary steps to maintain the security of the border areas and the safety of the citizens. The AHR has also called on the international community to provide support and assistance to the Afghan government to improve the security situation in Afghanistan. Furthermore, the AHR has called on the international community to support the Afghan government in its efforts to improve the security situation in Afghanistan. The AHR has also called on the international community to support the Afghan government in its efforts to improve the security situation in Afghanistan.

China-Pak Economic Corridor: Benefits for Afghanistan

By Akhtar Munir

The One Belt One Road strategy is a huge economic project that will connect China with the Western world through a network of economic走廊s and trade routes. The project is expected to boost trade and investment between the two countries and create employment opportunities for millions of people. The project has been welcomed by the Afghan government and the people of Afghanistan, who stand to benefit greatly from the economic development that it will bring to the region.

The Afghan government has been working closely with its Chinese counterparts to ensure that the project benefits the Afghan people. The government has been particularly focused on improving infrastructure, particularly in the transportation sector, which is crucial for trade and economic growth. The government has also been working to attract foreign investment to the country, which will help to create jobs and stimulate the economy.

However, there are concerns that the project could have negative environmental and social impacts. The government has been working to address these concerns and ensure that the project is implemented in a sustainable manner.

Tajikistan to Observe Parliamentary Elections in Kyrgyzstan

BRUSSELS - EU Commission for Migration and Asylum Policies on Monday confirmed that Tajikistan will hold its parliamentary elections on October 5. The EU has previously announced that the elections will be free and fair, and that they will help Tajikistan to consolidate its democratic gains.

Tajikistan has recently claimed to have made significant progress in its efforts to improve human rights and political freedoms. The EU has welcomed these developments and has urged Tajikistan to continue to make progress in this area.

The elections will be the first in Tajikistan since 2010, when the country held its last parliamentary elections. Since then, there has been significant political instability in the country, and the EU has been working to help Tajikistan to consolidate its democratic gains.

MOSCOW - Russia is reportedly looking to scrap plans to start a mission to the moon in 2022. The move comes after the country's space agency, Roscosmos, announced last month that it would not proceed with the mission due to financial constraints.

The decision to scrap the mission is reportedly a result of Russia's economic difficulties, which have led to a significant reduction in funding for the space agency. The country's space program has been facing challenges in recent years, with several failed launches and technical problems.

The decision to scrap the mission is likely to have significant implications for Russia's international space program, which has been a key component of the country's efforts to maintain its global standing.

U.S. “Human Rights” Push to Complicate Cuba’s Trip to the West

The US government has recently imposed sanctions on a number of Russian officials, including the Russian human rights advocate, Lyudmila Alexeyeva, who is currently under house arrest in Moscow.

The move comes after the US government issued a series of complaints against Russia, including reports of torture and other human rights abuses. The sanctions are intended to send a clear message to the Russian government that the US expects them to respect human rights.

The sanctions are likely to have a significant impact on Russia's efforts to improve its human rights record, and they may also have implications for the country's international relations.

Russia Steps Up Demand for U.S. to Drop European Missile Shield

The Russian government has recently increased its demands for the US to drop its plans to deploy a European missile defense system, known as the Terminal High Altitude Area Defense (THAAD).

The US government has been planning to deploy the system in Eastern Europe, but the Russian government has repeatedly expressed concerns about the system's potential for escalation and its impact on regional security.

The Russian government has also been critical of the US's efforts to build a missile defense system in Europe, which it sees as a threat to Russian security.

Iran Rejects Obama’s Remarks Over Tehran Policy Change

President Hassan Rouhani of Iran has rejected US President Barack Obama's comments on Iran's nuclear program, saying that the US should focus on its own policies rather than those of others.

Rouhani's remarks come after Obama's recent speech in which he called for a new era of engagement with Iran. However, Rouhani has been critical of the US's approach to Iran, saying that it is not in the interest of the region or the world.

The tension between the two countries has been a major source of concern for the international community, with many nations calling for a diplomatic solution to the crisis.
