Taliban Promised Inroads into Kabul Via Hetasar

The Taliban has promised to make inroads into Kabul through Hetasar, a key district in Afghanistan.

The promise comes as the Taliban continues to gain territory across the country, with recent advances in Ghazni and Farah provinces.

The Taliban has been criticized for its violence and lack of respect for human rights, particularly in regards to women and minorities.

The Taliban has been urged to stop all forms of violence and to work towards a peaceful resolution to the conflict.

The situation remains tense in the area.

Outlook Horoscope

Aries (Mar 21-Apr 20)

Your dreams about love are likely to encounter some negative aspects in your immediate environment. This is because you are not sure about what you are feeling for others and you may confuse your own emotions with those of others.

Taurus (Apr 21-May 20)

You will rather do anything rather than let your close ones down. Mercury is applying your brain, Venus, showing you with one controlling mentality after another, will try to play all the various scenarios through your mind to find a way out. You may not be able to make any decision with such a moment and hence, try to avoid doing anything.

Gemini (May 21-Jun 20)

Your social skills surprise your friends and family especially when you are around. Everyone might think you’re reading impressions from them but you are aware of their thoughts.

You are a great deal of thought to your own heart and are willing to risk your emotional security for the cause of something you think is right. You will need your instinct and hopes others will admit your originality and mistakes.

Leo (Jul 23-Aug 22)

You are integrally connected to your goals and aspirations, today your hard work and persistence will bear fruit. You are not frustrated because you can express your ideas or words. Your passion is strong, and your emotional reactions are so intense that it may be the best interest to resist quiet rather than forcing others with your drama.

Sagittarius (Nov 22-Dec 21)

You are emphasizing your personal and business relationships today partly because you understand how they are supporting your goals. Nevertheless, you’re also acutely aware you’re not totally able to say what’s on your mind, for you could easily upset others if you don’t. Even if you are tempted to ask for what you want, it may be prudent to wait until tomorrow.

Libra (Sep 23-Oct 22)

There’s no big change in your world today, there will be some minor changes in your personal life. However, the more you try to quiet things down the more you will notice that this will not work out. Your friends and even over others is a dead-end strategy that won’t bring you satisfaction. But you are tempted to look outside of yourself for amounts, it’s much more effective to divert your attention towards the changes you want to see in your friends.
Diplomatic Equator on Syria Changing

By Manish Rai

The recent diplomatic activity on Syria is intriguing. But it can be traced to a meeting between Syrian and Saudi intelligence officials. Even amid high tensions over issues such as the Homs siege, Riyadh and Damascus were able to forge a productive understanding. Given the U.S. and Russia's position on Syria, it is no surprise that the situation has been complex. Beirut has emerged as a neutral party in which to pass on Syria's information. Negotiations between Damascus and Washington and Tehran, Syria's staunchest ally, are increasingly a matter of concern. These diplomatic engagements have increased the possibility for the Syrian government to press its demands on the ground by parting. The current situation seems to have a new and direct threat to Washington and Tehran, Syria's staunchest ally. But these diplomatic engagements have increased the possibility for the Syrian government to press its demands on the ground by parting. The current situation seems to be a sign of the beginning of a new phase in Syria's conflict.

Refugee Crisis Continues

A disorder and warfare are enslaving the people in the eastern part of the world, the number of refugees, fleeing their countries and trying to find some place safe, is also increasing. The European countries are mostly the destinations of these refugees. Though, the number of refugees moving toward Europe is increasing alarmingly and every now and then there are tragedies that are really unfortunate, those in the countries. On Thursday, the dead bodies of around 37 migrants (mostly men, women and children) were found in a truck, which was abandoned at a highway in the southeastern part of Italy. The bodies of around 37 migrants (mostly men, women and children) were found in a truck, which was abandoned at a highway in the southeastern part of Italy. The numbers of migrants and refugees have reached 34,000 so far in 2014. For the last few years, about 2,000 migrants are trying to reach Europe every month. The European Union has been battling to contain the refugee crisis that is really tragic and requires serious effort. The refugees who have their families in such a beautiful life, most of the sufferer different sorts of hardships by which they suffer more than their comfort. Most of them don't even have to the destination they face today is happening in their last and most important. On most of the occasions they fail to complete the trip of Victorians and the most important shortages of basic requirements have compelled millions of people to leave their homes. The migration is an important issue of this nation. Migrants from Syria are mostly the destination of the most important refugees. In terms of the number of refugees, the United States, the European Union, and Australia are among the top destinations for refugees. While there are thousands who are still stranded, others have already made their way to the United States and Europe waiting for some sort of sympathy and attention. The circumstances faced by these refugees are very hard, with no hope of being able to return to their native lands where they have to bear the stress of different sorts of rights. Though. Their lives are not the same as they were before. They are now living in very poor conditions.

2015 is a year of special significance which marks a number of important anniversaries. The 70th anniversary of the Victory of China’s People’s War of Resistance against Japan, the 70th anniversary of the Anti-Fascist War of World Peace, and the 70th anniversary of the Anti-Fascist War of the United Nations. China will hold various events of commemorations, China will also join the world to pay tribute to those who lost their life in the war, and hold a series of solemn ceremonies, including a military parade in Beijing on September 3, to honor the dead, to cherish peace and to promote peace.

The Chinese People’s Resistance against Japanese Aggression was an important part of World War II, and the Anti-Fascist War of World Peace. China was the key player of Eastern theatre during World War II. On 8th September, 1931, the Mukden Incident broke out, which triggered Japan’s invasion of China. Japan’s aggression towards China continued until the end of World War II, during which China witnessed the bitterest and prolonged battles, both in the East and in the West, with a heavy loss of life and property. China has been working to promote peace in the world. Today, China has made significant progress in peacekeeping operations.

A relic Chinese military personnel in UN peacekeeping missions. An old Chinese saying goes, “the past, if not forgotten, serves as a guide for the future.” As we commemorate the 70th anniversary of the victory of China’s People’s War of Resistance against Japan, we cannot forget the valuable lessons and experiences China has gained in the war.

China and Afghanistan are close and friendly neighbors. Both countries have a long history of exchanges and cooperation, and have supported each other in various fields. Since the United Nations has been plagued by war, turmoil and poverty, and now it is time to put an end to such situation. The Chinese side has always stood for the “Afghan-led and Afghan-owned” re- construction of Afghanistan. The two sides have signed multiple agreements concerning Afghanistan’s development and reconstruction, and have made significant progress in various fields. China has supported Afghanistan in the field of infrastructure, and has helped build roads, bridges and other facilities. China and Afghanistan have made joint efforts to combat terrorism and extremism, and have worked together to achieve peace and stability in the region. The current situation in Afghanistan is a major concern for the international community, and China is committed to supporting the Afghan people in their efforts to achieve peace and stability. The Chinese side has always been an advocate of peace and stability in the region, and has made efforts to promote dialogue and cooperation among all parties.

Pakistan was also discussed. On the issue of transport India, Ghani said that the Turkenistan President proposed that a railway line be expected to be completed before the year 2050. This was a key project for the three countries and when completed, it would have a length of 400km. The project will cost about US$1.5 to 2 billion USD and is being developed as part of the China's Belt and Road Cooperation Program. It is primarily being developed by the China Development Bank, which has allocated $500 million to Afghani construction projects. It considered a critical trade route towards further cementing trade between the two countries. Ghani said at the press conference that already, Afghanistan imports over 60 billion dollars worth of goods from Turkmenistan annually.

In his speech, he said both countries encourage fundamental peace and friendship between stakeholders in the region.

Berdimuhamedow in turn commended the Afghan government and said they had been fruitful and prosperous. He said Turkmenistan is committed to promote its made and has maintained the nearest goodwill cooperation between the two countries.

According to him, talks were held regarding regional security and sustainable development, especially with Afghanistan, his country had a long tradition of drug smuggling and terrorism.

He emphasized that Turkmenistan and Afghanistan are serious and peaceful countries and said they were ready to negotiate in this area. As an impartial leader, he added.

Berdimuhamedow also stressed that they are ready to help implement the region's development process as well as the railway line.

In his address, Ghani said both countries be considered as "friends and brothers" and that he is committed to cooperatively work with Afghanistan (Tolo News).
