However, the situation in Afghanistan is quite different from the current situation, but the situations in the neighboring countries are also unacceptable.

Especially, in the last six months the situation seems ambiguous as to where the conflict is heading and what would be the future of the political situation in the region. Though, the situation in the neighboring countries is also unavoidable.

In this context, the situation in Afghanistan seems to be the most important factor contributing to our country's instability and is that billion dollars of foreign aid have been promised and invested in the country, but there has been no improvement in the country and that the situation in the country is still at the same level.

The Afghan National Security Forces (ANSF) have responded to aggression by the Taliban and launched aggressive campaigns targeting Taliban elements in different parts of the country, but it seems that the Taliban have focused on different parts of the country and have launched aggressive campaigns in different parts of the country.

However, the fact that the security situation in Afghanistan is not improving and that the situation in the region is still at the same level, is that the Afghan National Security Forces (ANSF) have responded to aggression by the Taliban and launched aggressive campaigns targeting Taliban elements in different parts of the country.

In addition, there are also reports of different incidents in different parts of the country, which are being reported by the Afghan National Security Forces (ANSF) and the Taliban. Some of these reports have been verified by the Afghan National Security Forces (ANSF), while others have been denied by the Taliban.
