Daesch’s Growing Foothold in Afghanistan

By Dilawar Sharazi

As a socialized animal he can’t live his life alone; rather he lives in a society with the gathering of some other animals. As he looks for others to help him around him to give him love, affection, honor, value and support for everything he does. This is why he relies on others to fulfill his needs and, therefore, he is a society for living property. The formation of a society is the basic unit of human life. A person can become an individual is supposed to be dependent on one another and highly influenced by each single act of all others. People living in one society may differ in individual qualities but they are quite similar in social qualities since they belong to the same circumstances. Their personal problems may differ from others but their social problems are same to a certain extent. That is why an individual effort or struggle might be negligible in any society. No one should do such efforts and do in any way it is easier to pursue one’s thoughts and much to the desire of a society. This holds true for all. The entire society is one whole. Of the differences are the same, the whole society will serve this common goal. People in the same society may not be identical, but they can be perhaps halfway identical.

One of the groups’ deficiencies is the lack of spirit. It is the last and weakest of the political groups and the one that is not yet able to take a piece of land in the hand of Islam. The United Arab Emirates (UN) recently published report showed the self-styled Islamic State (ISIS) is a threat to the region and recruiting followers in 23 of the 30 countries in the Middle East. The report said the number of groups and individuals who are openly declaring either loyalty or sympathy with the group to continue to grow as a member of the threat in Afghanistan. The source has stated that ISIS has been attack Afghanistan National Security Forces (ANSF) and the Taliban in different areas of Afghanistan. It is believed it would be at the Taliban fighters had sympathized with the ISIS fighters, adding that “ISIS is becoming more and more influential in Afghanistan. The reports have indicated that the relations between ISIS and the Afghan government have been better in recent years.”

A well-known Afghan politician and local government officials, he said the number of groups and individuals who are sympathetic to the group and those who are not yet able to take a piece of land in the hand of Islam. Residents Protest Against Setup of Refugee Center in Finland's Turku

Over two dozen people of Pakistani origin blocked the construction of a refugee center in Turku, a city in southwestern Finland, demonstrating against the setup of a refugee center for Pakistani migrants in the city.

The demonstration, which lasted several hours, attracted many people, who were protesting against the construction of the refugee center.

"We do not want any refugees," one of the protesters shouted. "We want to live in peace and harmony with our neighbors." Another protester said, "The government is ignoring our concerns."

The demonstrators demanded the government to stop the construction of the refugee center and asked for the protective measures to be taken against the refugee center.

"The government should take steps to ensure the safety of our community," said a local resident, speaking on the behalf of the protesters.

"We are afraid of the refugees," another resident said. "We don't want them here."

The government has announced plans to construct several refugee centers across Finland in the coming months, in an effort to manage the influx of refugees.

"We will not let the refugees come to our city," said a local Muslim leader. "We will continue our protest until the government changes its decision."
United States authorizes military support for Syria

The United States has authorized military support for Syria, according to sources familiar with the matter. The move comes amid heightened tensions between the US and Russia in the Middle East. The authorization allows for the delivery of military aid to the Syrian government, which is facing increasing pressure from rebel groups. The US decision follows a series of meetings between US and Russian officials, aimed at de-escalating the situation in Syria. The move is expected to be announced shortly.

Sources close to the US government said that the decision was made in response to the growing threat posed by the Islamic State (IS) in Syria and Iraq. The US military will provide hostages with medical and other assistance, but will not engage in combat operations. The authorization is limited to non-combat support and does not include deployment of US troops on the ground. The US has been increasing its support for the Syrian government in recent weeks, as it seeks to counter the growing influence of Iran and Russia in the region. The move is likely to be met with resistance from other US allies in the region, who are concerned about the potential for a widening of the conflict.
Mol Rejects UN Report on Daesh Presence in Afghanistan

KARUL - The Ministry of Interior (MoI) on Sunday rejected the presence of Islamic State (IS) in 20 provinces of the country and said that the National Security Council (NSC) had already approved a strategy to fight the extremist group.

Speaking to reporters the MoI Spokesman Sajjadul said that the activities of IS had been thwarted by the intelligence agencies in Hoffmond and Nangarhar provinces.

Earlier, a report published by the United Nation (UN) showed the softline of Islamic State (IS) group in making inroads in Afghanistan and recruiting followers in 25 of the country’s 34 provinces.

"The number of groups and individuals who are openly declaring their loyalty to their sympathizers has continued to grow in a number of provinces in Afghanistan. We have rejected the report," the spokesman said.

"The results have shown that IS fighters had been fighting Afghan security forces and the Taliban in different areas of Afghanistan. It said 10 percent of the Taliban fighters had sympathies with the Daesh fighters, adding that 90 percent of the group’s fighters came from Syria and Iraq to Afghanistan. Afghan security officials did not comment on it."

Dand-I-Chori Pact Seems to be Effective: Locals

PUL-I-KORMI - A number of residents of Dand-I-Chori locality, located in northern Baghlan province said that the agreement between local elders and the government was effective, while some local people complained about some complaints of the pact yet to be implemented.

A former police officer from the presidential palace led by the beakers and tribal affairs minister Mohammed Najib Mangal trekked in to Baghlan province to assess the security situation on September 3. After spending 15 days to evaluate the situation there, the delegates signed an agreement with local elders of Dand-I-Chori locality on the outskirts of Pul-Khornan, the provincial capital.

In line with the pact, no attacks would be carried out in the area and if someone did so, local militias would stand by security forces.

Religious Leaders Announce Jihad against Daesh Militants

KARUL - A large number of religious leaders have announced jihad against the brutality of Daesh militants in Nangarhar province, saying the activities of Daesh is out of some religion.

First deputy of the lower house of the parliament Ziauddin Qura said: "Some Islamic leaders are being forced to implement the Daesh project. If the government does not do its responsibility, then the people of Afghanistan will support Daesh, Meanwhile officials in Ministry of Interior Affairs said: "Those who exaggrate for Daesh will be eutectic during the fighting. Afghan border police forces were killed 15 times around and 60 Daesh militants lost their lives.

Daesh is the most spread group spreading from among Afghans and have prepared their presence in 15 out of the 34 parts of the country. Nangarhar province has worstly they have been killing people. Taliban and even all kinds of people. Religious leaders have mixed their voices against the Daesh project."
