Societal Problems Plead Prior Action

By Dilwar Sherzai

Children are seen as the bulwark of a nation. Educated, healthy and motivated children guarantee a prosperous future. Therefore, it is advisable to plan strategically and protect the children from all sorts of evils and promises them better living conditions. The government has struggled a lot to protect the children from all the governments realize that they have a special responsibility towards the children. Although the government has made unique efforts, there is a lot of laxity in the implementation of the constitutional and international legal frameworks. Moreover, special attention should be given to the children who are living in unstable societies, like Afghanistan, among many problems of economic and social problems and who have been affected by the war and discrimination, as well. There are various ways in which children are affected, but the war situation is the main one leading to severe direct damage or push them in the war. There have been various incidents, in Afghanistan, when children have been killed or wounded or the insurgents and they have been made to fight the wars in different parts of the country.

The United Nations Children’s Emergency Fund (UNICEF) has once again voiced out concerns in this regard and has talked about any sort of situation where children are used to fight a war. UNICEF press releases state that: “The presence of children in conflict, no matter by any group, in conflict areas is unacceptable. Recently, some children, who were fighting against Afghan security forces, were arrested in Badakhshan province.

The acting governor of Badakhshan, Shah Waliullah Asef, confirmed that child soldiers are being used by Taliban in the province. At the same time, there was a strong concern of interest which has also been confirmed to the existence of child soldiers, saying: Talibans bring children to the battlefield.

There have been many incidents of suicide attack in different parts of the country, to be the site, when were child soldiers. Apart from that the children are also welcomed by the military groups with a motif to make them fight for the sake that they live in an order and order to their own, within their training camps.

These actions are devised in such a way that, while the interested parties have used children for the war, however, such incidents are very scary. And, 2013, 3000 children were used in the war and some 5000 steps are being taken to eliminate the trend. In 2013 an action plan was developed by the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Afghanistan for the child soldiers. There are reports that if the commitments are fulfilled with complete determination, its political implication would be made possible by all means. Recruitment of the children by Taliban militias and security forces will definitely result in violence against children and all of these. The government should take the real action and employ the fact that the training sessions in their training camps don’t include any kind of violence. The training of children should include the killing and making children of the children because of the Taliban’s violent behavior.

There are many other ways in which insecurity and insulation impact the children. Children, because of its birth or because of lack of health facilities and insufficient nutrition either die in early ages or they are made to work. Due to the war, they couldn’t get the certain physical deformities and serious diseases. Most of the children, therefore, are not able to have access to education, either because of the financial problems or the traditional hatred of the parent or involved in drug addiction.

The goals in this regard suffer even to extremely extents. Moreover, the children school that can get a chance to be submitted to education once run out for labor so they are forced to be helping hand industry and the process is they lead to the loss of the society.

Child laborers are exposed to crimes and maltreatment to a risky extent. However, the children are exposed by their self-sense, mechanisms, and small faults. They are even put to violent treatment by their fellow teenagers and subject them to slavery. Many children beg who use the helpless children for the begging purposes. Therefore, the role of the government and the media in the prevention and scutlphure their character development are the most important things. The mass media and the government has the rights and duties to safeguard the rights of the children. The same children who have suffered from the war must be given education as soon as possible and associated through every possible means. Apart from the government the members of the society can also play a tremendous role in this regard.
