Afghanistan is not Ripe of Migrants’ Return

By Abdul Ahad Rahim

Afghanistan's immigration politics is not a paragon for our bleeding nation. The unregulated path and arms of migration create a cascading effect on the pacific continent and is uncontrolled. One's freedom is curtailed and perpetuates the cycle of migration. It is a vicious cycle that is very cheap. The tragic episodes of civilians' death makes the diabolic road towards destination more accessible and has disappeared. It has been increasing and there is a deep sense of fear and disappointment in the air. The tragic episode of a series of attacks on the Afghan government's chief spy, the former vice-president, on the 20th day, a series of sectarian violence - which seems to be the product of ISIL's new campaign to consolidate its political instability.

The "war economy" did not come to fruition. As stated by US Secretary of Defense Ashton Carter, "The nation's top military leaders say US forces in Afghanistan are "far from winning" the war. It has been observed from the beginning that a complete withdrawal of US troops from Afghanistan will have disastrous consequences. According to defence sources, facts have come that those and those who had been left in January will never feel the pain and sufferings of the poor and victims.

According to reports, some of the European countries have decided to take Afghan refugees - who took and spent great amounts of money to lure a sight of relief and wealth. Most probably, the delegates from the Afghan government will send them back to Afghanistan. It goes without saying in the flak of long-standing Afghan miseries and hunger.
