Some Neighbors are Exporting Terrorism: Ghani

ASGHARAT - President Ashraf Ghani has once again on Sunday condemned some regional countries for not wanting peace and stability in the region and said they instead "export terrorism," while talking to the Internatio- nal Security Conference in Ashgabat, Turkmenistan. Ghani said that instead of cooperation some regional countries are export- ing terrorism.

During his speech on Saturday, Ghani hailed the role of Turkmenistan for trying to normalize relations. He said each region should be helpful in making the neighbors realize that instead of increasing terrorism it is their mutual interest to extend their hand for a better future together.

The government officials also said that "the policy of Turkmenistan is a good example for regional countries to strengthen ties and work toward peaceful relations with neighbors and mutually focus on economic and economic growth," said Ghani. Ghani added that the experience of Turkmenistan has opened doors of opportunities for the region and said that the policy has been the cause of several achievements of the country.

"Today, instead of asking for "assistance" Turkmenistan helps others," he said.

Ghani said that Afghanistan has historical ties with Turkmenistan. We want to further strengthen this relationship, he added: Ghani is currently on a two-day official visit to Turkmenistan.

Turkmenistan Starts Work on Gas Link to Afghanistan, Pakistan, India

ASGHARAT - Turkmenistan on Sunday started work on a part of a natural gas pipeline to Afghanistan, Pakistan and India (TAPI), a $10 billion project assigned to reduce the dependence on gas sales to Russia and China.

The groundbreaking ceremony took place near the city of Mary in the southeastern part of the country. A joint Russian-Turkmen gas field which is meant to provide gas for the TAPI pipeline (1,735 km) link.

On December 19, the pipeline will be completed. It will have a capacity of 15 billion cubic meters. Turkmenistan President Kurbanguly Berdymukhamedov said at the ceremony that Afghanistan President Ashraf Ghani, Pakistani President Mamnoon Hussain, Nawaz Sharif and Indian Vice President Hamid Ansari.

Although it is backed by hydrocarbons, the TAPI project faces several risks, such as the deteriorating security situation in Afghanistan and lack of clarity about its financing.

"TAPI's success is crucial for Afghanistan, Pakistan and India," the state news agency said in a piece of the joint project.

On Wednesday, a joint Afghan-Nepali border will be opened for cross-border transportation.

Mohaqqi Warns People Should Prepare for an Extended War

KARUL - The second deputy of the ISAF, Lt. Maj. Mohammad Mohaqqi said Saturday that Afghanistan should be prepared for a "long war," as "the country is still in a war zone," and people should prepare for a "long war." He added that the ISAF will continue to keep fighting until a solution is reached. He also said that the government should prepare for a "long war." He added that the country is still in a war zone and people should prepare for a "long war." He also said that the government should prepare for a "long war.

China to Help Pakistan Revive Afghan Peace Talks

KARUL - The Chinese ambassador in Kabul on Sunday said his country would coop- erate with Pakistan in taking steps to "reach a stabilizing solution" to the Afghan peace process. The Chinese ambassador said that Pakistan has a "stabilizing solution" to the Afghan peace process and that Pakistan would be willing to help in the talks if necessary.

Abdullah Visits China

KARUL - Abdullah Abdullah, the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the Afghan National Assembly (ANL) is expected to travel to Beijing on Monday. The Chinese government will be accompanied by a high-level government delegation during this visit. He will hold talks with Chinese of- ficials on key subjects to include the peace and reconciliation process of government with Taliban and strengthening relations between the two nations.

China is one of the stakeholders of the peace and reconciliation process between Afghan government and Taliban. A high-level delegation of Chinese government arrived in Kabul on Sunday, said an official of the National Assembly of Afghanistan.

The talks will be attended by the Chinese president and the Afghan president. The talks will be attended by the Chinese president and the Afghan president.

Afgan horsemen compete for the goat carcass during a game of headstall in Bamian province on Sunday, December 15, 2013. Backyard is an Afghan national sport which is played between two groups of horsemen competing to throw a goat carcass into a scoring circle. (KhalilSafi/AFIAP)

Iran to Train Afghan Post Personnel

TEHRAN - An Iranian academic official re- cently met Afghan Interior Minister Abdull- lah Atfani and a general post personnel manage- ment was discussed between the two nations. Iran will provide clas- sic and modern experiences of post systems to Afghanistan, said Abdulllah Atfani, Acting President of Post and Telecommunication branch of Iran's University of Applied Science and Technology (GUIAT) during a meeting on Thursday.

He referred to his Wednesday meeting with the Iranian Interior Ministry, Iran's Ministry of Communication and Information Technology (MCI) which was held for the international project on "Post Systems and Telecommunication with Afghanistan and Pakistan."
Leader of Turkistan Islamic Movement Killed in Afghanistan

KARUL - Leader of Turkistan Islamic Movement, Osman Qazi, has been killed in clashes with the Taliban militants in the province of Zabul, Southern Afghanistan. Taliban said, "The body of Osman Qazi, who had joined the Taliban, and was fighting against the government, was killed by a rocket attack in Zabul."

Ahmed Mansoor, who was in attendance at the funeral, said that the news of Qazi’s death was a great loss for the Afghan people. "He was a great fighter and a brave man. He fought against the Taliban and the government to protect the rights of ordinary Afghans."

Ahmed Mansoor thanked the Afghan people for their support and called for unity and cooperation to achieve the goal of a free and democratic Afghanistan. "We are united in our struggle for a better Afghanistan. Let’s continue to fight for our rights and for a brighter future for our children."

Outlook Horoscope

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr.20)
You may be annoyed if circumstances do not work out the way you want them to. Your mind is locked into an old pattern and you find it difficult to break free. You may feel frustrated and this could lead to arguments with others. Try to be more flexible and open to change.

Taurus (Apr. 21-May 20)
It seems as if you’re spinning around in circles without getting anywhere. Thankfully, you can still meet your commitments as long as you don’t throw in the towel too soon. Whether you’re working on a project or just washing around the house, concentrate on one task at a time. You may surprise yourself with how much you can accomplish when you focus on one task at a time.

Gemini (May 21-Jun.20)
You don’t always like other people to know what you’re thinking. Your independence can sometimes lead to isolation, so try to open up to others and share your thoughts. You’ll be surprised by the positive feedback you receive. This is a good time to push yourself out of your comfort zone and try something new.

Cancer (Jun. 21-Jul.22)
You are more than ready for the hard work and responsibility of life to settle down today, but instead, you seem to have one irritating problem after another. Even if you try to avoid the complications, your need for independence causes you to seek answers to an ever-growing list of questions. Your curiosity can lead you to look for more information than you will ever be able to absorb.

Leo (Jul 23-Aug. 21)
It bothers you to see something predetermined, such as course or action, is beyond your control. You try to control everything but there is no substitute for decision-making for things you can’t control. However, even if you are in control of your environment, it’s important to acknowledge that you can’t control everything that affects you.

Virgo (Aug. 22-Sep. 22)
Everyone seems to look for guidance because your practical outlook is exactly what they need right now. Your friends and relatives beg for your assistance because they believe they can make an easy mistake for you. They need help but they also need to listen to their own sense. There are obstacles that require attention. There is no place for hubris regarding what’s expected of you.

Libra (Sep 23-Oct. 22)
Evaluating all the factors that come into play when making a decision can be a daunting task. Your current determination to meet your obligations may or may not be aligned with your personal and family needs. But it’s not about how hard you work; it’s about your uncharacteristic practicality. You don’t have to win or lose, so try to perform with great respect. All you must do is stick to the acknowledged agenda and try to be most respectful.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov.21)
Shaking a sturdy rhythm today enables you to see your way around the problem. You can bring in a new perspective that will help you avoid the problem in the first place. You have the opportunity to make your own decision.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec.21)
Family responsibilities may interfere with your personal plans, but you can work around them TODAY. You can do it all if you add your personal planning to your family obligations. Your plans may not be as ambitious as your family and friends. But you’re not about to be invaded by your family and friends. Your plans may not be as ambitious as your family and friends. But you’re not about to work around them today.

Capricorn (Dec.21-Jan.20)
Although you may know that as the change operator, you should be familiar with what you’re doing, you’re really quite capable of handling your family and friends without a healthy strategy. I might be too much of a surprise in your personal and family lives. Your current determinations may have you lacking confidence in your abilities. Don’t be afraid to ask for help and support from your family and friends when you need it.

Aquarius (Jan.20-Feb.19)
You might not understand all the nuances to your feelings today, but this doesn’t mean that you should try to be there for them. You’re quite capable of handling your family and friends without a healthy strategy. It’s always wise to be more conscious of your personal and family relationships. Your current determinations may have you lacking confidence in your abilities. Don’t be afraid to ask for help and support from your family and friends when you need it.

Pisces (Feb.20-Mar.20)
You are more than an enigmatic person. Your current determinations may have you lacking confidence in your abilities. Don’t be afraid to ask for help and support from your family and friends when you need it.
Peace Efforts and the Fresh Winds

by Abdal Ahad Bahrami

The military leaders inaugurated another ambitious attack against the Taliban. Dozens of soldiers, Afghan and Arab, some of whom are members of the IDF, have been killed in recent days. Despite the fact that the military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.

The military leaders have not given any details about the number of casualties, it is estimated that the Taliban have lost over 500 soldiers. The attack was launched in several areas of the country, including the northern province of Kunduz.
December 14, 2015

In this issue:

- Pakistan
  - The Afghan government is to commit the project to the company that will do as much as a third of Turkmenistan's trade. The government has also decided not to authorize any additional agreements with the company.
  - Although China is the largest consumer of natural gas in the world, it accounts for only a small percentage of its production. The government is allowing onshore and offshore drilling in碹 of the country. The total value of the new exploration contracts exceeded $20 billion.
  - China is also seeking to expand its trade with Turkmenistan, which could benefit from the country's large reserves of natural gas.

- China
  - The Chinese government is set to adopt new safety standards aimed at improving safety in the country's coal mines. The new standards are expected to reduce the number of accidents and fatalities in the mining industry.
  - The Chinese government has also agreed to increase investment in the country's coal mining sector, which is a major contributor to the country's economy.

- Oil and Gas
  - The government is working with companies to develop new fields and increase production. The country has significant reserves of oil and gas, and the government is looking to attract investment from international companies.

- Energy Policy
  - The government is also working to improve energy efficiency in the country, with plans to introduce new policies and incentives to encourage the use of renewable energy sources.

---

Pakistan

The Afghan government is to commit the project to the company that will do as much as a third of Turkmenistan's trade. The government has also decided not to authorize any additional agreements with the company.

Although China is the largest consumer of natural gas in the world, it accounts for only a small percentage of its production. The government is allowing onshore and offshore drilling in 破 of the country. The total value of the new exploration contracts exceeded $20 billion.

China is also seeking to expand its trade with Turkmenistan, which could benefit from the country's large reserves of natural gas.

---

Energy Policy

The government is working with companies to develop new fields and increase production. The country has significant reserves of oil and gas, and the government is looking to attract investment from international companies.

The government is also working to improve energy efficiency in the country, with plans to introduce new policies and incentives to encourage the use of renewable energy sources.

---

Pakistan

The Afghan government is set to adopt new safety standards aimed at improving safety in the country's coal mines. The new standards are expected to reduce the number of accidents and fatalities in the mining industry.

The Chinese government has also agreed to increase investment in the country's coal mining sector, which is a major contributor to the country's economy.

---

Oil and Gas

The government is working with companies to develop new fields and increase production. The country has significant reserves of oil and gas, and the government is looking to attract investment from international companies.

The government is also working to improve energy efficiency in the country, with plans to introduce new policies and incentives to encourage the use of renewable energy sources.

---

Energy Policy

The government is working with companies to develop new fields and increase production. The country has significant reserves of oil and gas, and the government is looking to attract investment from international companies.

The government is also working to improve energy efficiency in the country, with plans to introduce new policies and incentives to encourage the use of renewable energy sources.
BRUSSELS - A proposal to give the EU's executive the power to deport millionaires from member states to the European Union even after Brexit will be discussed in some countries when it is put to member states this month. The European Commission was prepared to present an deportation package to the European Parliament, which would implement the proposal, the source said. The new package would cover people with a net worth of at least €5 million and a weekly income of €200,000, with the aim of reducing net migration from third countries.

The meeting of foreign ministers this month will only be the start of efforts to gain support for the new deportation plan. The commission will send a formal letter to all member states outlining the concept of deporting third-country nationals whose wealth has grown due to the euro debt crisis. The commission will set out the plan on Tuesday with up to six more states on Thursday, with the aim of having the plan adopted at the summer summit in July.

On the day, expressing concern over the rapid rise in deportations, the commission's chief spokesperson, Christiane Taubira, said, "We are hitting the brakes on several points." She said that the plan was not yet "a decision in a certain area." However, the commission's chief spokesperson confirmed that the council would meet on Friday to discuss the plan. The council is expected to take a decision on the deportation plan at its next meeting on Friday.

France rejects EU 'weighty racism' but agrees to future talks

PARIS - France has rejected the European Union's latest attempt to block the deportation of 11 EU citizen journalists to Syria. "This is an extraordinary decision that is an affront to all journalists," said France's foreign minister, Laurent Fabius. "We reject it, we will appeal it." The decision was made after the EU commission presented a new deportation plan, which the French government had already rejected.

The French government had refused to accept the deportation plan, which would have allowed the commission to deport journalists to Syria who had been working there for more than a year. The French government has now decided to appeal the decision, which was made at a meeting of the EU commission on Friday.

The decision was made after the EU commission presented a new deportation plan, which the French government had already rejected.

The French government had refused to accept the deportation plan, which would have allowed the commission to deport journalists to Syria who had been working there for more than a year. The French government has now decided to appeal the decision, which was made at a meeting of the EU commission on Friday.

The French government had refused to accept the deportation plan, which would have allowed the commission to deport journalists to Syria who had been working there for more than a year. The French government has now decided to appeal the decision, which was made at a meeting of the EU commission on Friday.

The decision was made after the EU commission presented a new deportation plan, which the French government had already rejected.

The French government had refused to accept the deportation plan, which would have allowed the commission to deport journalists to Syria who had been working there for more than a year. The French government has now decided to appeal the decision, which was made at a meeting of the EU commission on Friday.

The decision was made after the EU commission presented a new deportation plan, which the French government had already rejected.

The French government had refused to accept the deportation plan, which would have allowed the commission to deport journalists to Syria who had been working there for more than a year. The French government has now decided to appeal the decision, which was made at a meeting of the EU commission on Friday.

The decision was made after the EU commission presented a new deportation plan, which the French government had already rejected.

The French government had refused to accept the deportation plan, which would have allowed the commission to deport journalists to Syria who had been working there for more than a year. The French government has now decided to appeal the decision, which was made at a meeting of the EU commission on Friday.

The decision was made after the EU commission presented a new deportation plan, which the French government had already rejected.

The French government had refused to accept the deportation plan, which would have allowed the commission to deport journalists to Syria who had been working there for more than a year. The French government has now decided to appeal the decision, which was made at a meeting of the EU commission on Friday.
Senate Team to Probe Kandahar Attack

KABUL - Condemning the recent Taliban attack on the Kandahar Airport compound which killed 54 dead, senators in the Mosharraf Jangi [Upper House of Parliament] on Sunday assigned a team to probe the incident.

The senators said a serious assessment needs to be done regarding the attack and warned that there might be more such terrorist incursions into such a place. "A serious investigation is required in this regard. I think it is an internal problem and someone has a hand in it and it has happened with internal and external interference," said Senator Kader.

Afghan Forces Hold out Against Taliban Marjah

LASHKARGAH - Afghan forces continue to hold off Taliban insurgents in a dis- trict of the volatile southern province of Helmand on Sunday. The Taliban, which launched a major offensive north of Lashkargah on Saturday, is struggling to push the Afghan security forces out of Marjah district, in Helmand.

"The security situation remains very difficult," said Seraj, chief of Lashkargah district's security. "Taliban forces have launched a major offensive in the district and the security situation is very tense." He said the Afghan forces had managed to hold back the Taliban attack.

Mideast, Tinderbox Ready to Explode: Former IRGC Commander

TEHRAN - A former chief com- mander of Iran's Islamic Revolu- tion Guards Corps (IRGC) has warned about the potential for "another war" in the Middle East region. Speaking in a televised pro- gram on Saturday, Mohsen Rezai said the region was now "pinned for a big explosion." Such a potential outcome, he said, would be a result of tensions from military incursions that had taken place in re- gions.

The ground now also became prepared for the "Third World War," he said.

The recent coup against the backdrop of tensions that are now flaring up between Tur- key and Russia. The two coun- tries have been involved in a war of words for weeks now.

UNSC Condemns Kabul Guesthouse Attack

KABUL - Following the attack on Friday night in a guesthouse in the Spanish Embassy complex in Kabul, which resulted in casualties from both Af- gan and Spanish National Police, the United Nations Security Council (UNSC) condemned "the strongest terms" the terrorist attack for which the Taliban had claimed re- sponsibility.

The members of the Security Council expressed their deep sympathy and condolences to the families of the victims and the people and government

Paris Attacks are Result of Western Policies in M.E

KABUL - AFP said that the Islamic State, can't be defeated by military force, by increasing американоов во время наступления армии, as well as to the inactivity of the government of Spain. "They want to save money. They want to have a 'cost-effective' policy," said a press statement issued by the Security Council.

The Chamber, interested in serious concerns about the threat posed by the Talib- an, Al-Qaeda, Daesh and other armed groups to the local population, national security interests, and security policy in Afghan-istan. The members of the Security Council emphasized the need for continued efforts to bring peace and

Refugees Face Difficulties with Winter's Arrival in Macedonia

SKOPJE - Italian authorities recently said that refugees at the transit camps near Gevgelija on Macedo- nia's southern border with Greece are becoming increasingly worried. "We are staying in the cold and snow, we can't continue our journey toward Serbia," was the complaint.

The terrorist organization, the West increases the likelihood of large-scale terrorist attacks in Europe or the region which have not been made in the past. The chief is concerned. Over a number of people have been的消息, it is not clear if the visit resulted in any additional coordination (see, for instance, "The West increases the likelihood of large-scale terrorist attacks in Europe or the region which have not been made in the past."

Refugees, most of whom remain in the camps in Macedonia, noted that the visit to Serbia, where they are threatened by the authorities, has led to an increased interest in leaving for other countries. According to the UN Agency for Refugees, UNHCR, in Macedonia, stated that the police are doing a great job by organizing sendings, but "we were grateful if they respected us."

An Afghan man works at a workshop in Herat province on December 13, 2013. Afghans are preparing heating materials for winter. (Xinhua/Sardar Karim)